Kathleen Norris' Serial in The Star

KATHLEEN NORRIS will write the next serial story for The Marion Star.

Arrangements were completed today for the serialization of Mrs. Norris' fine novel, "Barberry Bush," in The Star.

The story will begin in Thursday's editions and marks a great step in the plans of The Star for better newspaper fiction.

Kathleen Norris is regarded throughout the fiction world as one of its foremost exponents. She is the author of a large number of novels and many short stories. In addition Mrs. Norris is the author of widely-syndicated Sunday newspaper articles.

Read the opening installment Thursday of "Barberry Bush," in which Mrs. Norris tells how one girl's marriage problems were solved

32 STRICKEN AFTER PICNIC

Marysville People Suffering from Ptomaine Poisoning After Affair

(Special to The Star)

MARYSVILLE, July 29—Thirty-two persons are recovering today from ptomaine poisoning following a picnic held yesterday at the Allen Center school four miles south of here. The picnic was attended by 94 persons.

All of those stricken with poisoning are expected to recover, according to a check made of local physicians. Dr. Harry G. Southard, Union county health commissioner, was attending the picnic and administered emergency treatment to many of those taken ill. Dr. J. M. Snyder also aided in giving medical aid.

The picnic was being held in honor of Prof. W. H. Carr who for many years has served as instructor in the Allen Center school. He has accepted a position in the Newark schools.

The picnic dinner was served in cafeteria style at 4 o'clock and it was difficult for physicians to determine the cause of the poisoning. It is believed that bad meat, especially some pressed chicken, was the cause of the ptomaine attack.

Those most seriously ill are Glenn Stillings, B. T. Beightler, J. P. Dunbar, Walter Spaler, Allen Smith, James Stain, Lowell Robinson, Duncan and John Paver

20,000 MASSACRED BY MOHAMMEDANS

Victims All Men and Boys, Reports from Kansu-Thibet State

PEIPIN, China, July 29 — Reports received here today stated that Mohammedans had massacred 20,000 males between the ages of 17 and 70 in the vicinity of the Kansu-Thibet border

The wholesale slaughter was said to have been consummated in two hours.

BOARD APPROVES PLANS FOR BRIDGES

Bids on 12 To Be Opened by County Commissioners Aug. 15

Twelve bridges on county roads will be erected this year as a result of action taken today by the board of county commissioners. The board has approved plans and specifications drawn by Cecil R Leavens, county surveyor.

The total estimated cost of the bridges is $14,361.93 The estimated cost of six of the bridges, to cost less than $1,000 each, is $4,206.51. Bids for the construction of these bridges will be opened by the commissioners at 2 p. m. Aug. 15.

The estimated cost of the other six bridges, estimated to cost more than $1,000 each, is $10,095 42 The commissioners will open bid for these at 2 p. m. Sept. 3.

The bridges in the first group are located as follows:

Martel rd. in Tully township, Kenton-Galion rd. in Salt Rock and Big Island township, Sommerlot-Huffman rd. in Pleasant township, Arabela rd in Bowling Green township, Riley rd. in Montgomery township, Linwood rd. in Bowling Green township

The bridges estimated to cost more than $1,000 are located as follows:

Irvin-Sheets rd. in Grand township, (two bridges), St. James rd. in Richland township, LaRue-Prospect rd. in Green Camp township, Keener rd. in Marion township, and Dry Lane rd. in Montgomery township.

Chinese Continue Plans for War on Russians

HARBIN, MANCHURIA, July 29 —While peace negotiations were still reported in progress between Soviet Russia and China, the Nanking government went ahead today with plans for war.

Chang Tso Hsiang, governor of Kirin, is slated to arrive here tomorrow to assume war command of the Manchurian forces in the field. Chang's appointment to this post is alleged to be the result of the "truculent" attitude adopted by the Soviet spokesmen at recent conferences aimed at settling the dispute by arbitration.

FINDS GUN LOADED

DAYTON, July 29—Plucing the muzzle of a gun, which he was cleaning, to his head, "just to prove it wasn't loaded," Delbert Paney, 21, of Wilmington, pulled the trigger. He is near death today.

PILOT INJURED

Owen Haugland, Minneapolis, Minn., flier, was seriously injured when his Minneapolis endurance plane crashed, killing Captain Crichton.

15 STRIKERS BEGIN BATTLE FOR LIVES

People Mill About North Carolina Courthouse as Trials Open

GASTONIA, N. C., July 29—Amid tense scenes bordering on class warfare, 15 strikers and strike organizers of the radical wing of labor, who style themselves martyrs, today began a dogged battle against the electric chair for the assassination of Police Chief O. F. Aderholt.

Long before the opening of court several hundred people milled around the Gaston county courthouse in which will be held one of the most complex murder trials in the history of American jurisprudence

Because the trial comes in the midst of labor disturbances and because sentiment has been fanned into fever heat in this section by voluminous propaganda, mass meetings, sabotage and demonstrations, extra deputies were on hand to thwart possible violence.

A last-minute statement by the prosecution staff said every effort would be directed toward keeping references to communism and religion out of the proceedings, but it remained obvious that the trial of the 32 men and three women would swerve into a spectacular labor-capitalistic fight.

The grim, pallid-faced prisoners who have been held in the jail behind the courthouse since the police officer was slain during a strike meeting the night of June 7, probably will not be arraigned until late this afternoon or tomorrow, for the greater part of today will be taken up by the grand jury in hearing witnesses.

FATHER M'DEVITT LEAVING MARION

Sent to Cincinnati Church; Father Henry Kriege To Serve Here

The Rev. Father Herbert J. McDevitt, assistant pastor at St. Mary's Catholic church, will leave next Monday for Cincinnati, where he will take up his duties as assistant pastor at St. Francis de Sales church at East Walnut Hills. He will be succeeded here by the Rev. Father Henry Kriege, assistant pastor at Oakley, a suburb of Cincinnati.

Father McDevitt came to Marion a year ago from Dayton, where he served as an assistant pastor, and prior to that he served as an assistant in Cincinnati.

Briand Will Retain Cabinet of Poincare

PARIS, July 29—Premier-designate Briand informed President Doumergue, of France, this afternoon that he would retain the members of the Poincare cabinet in the new government. The new ministry is expected to hold its organization meeting tonight or tomorrow morning. The new premier, who will also hold the post of foreign minister, probably will make his declaration of policy before parliament on Wednesday.

PLEAD NOT GUILTY

CLEVELAND, July 29—Jack Dempsey, 24, of Pittsburgh, and Sherman Williams, 30, of Detroit, bus drivers, pleaded not guilty to charges of violating the Mann act when arraigned before Commissioner Huston K. Cochrane here today. The men were bound over to the federal grand jury under $2,500 bond each.

ENDURANCE AIR PILOT KILLED AS SHIP FALLS

Minneapolis Plane Suddenly Crashes to Earth; Crichton Is Victim

ROBIN UP 387 HOURS

"When Are They Coming Down?" Query About St. Louis Ship

MINNEAPOLIS, July 29 —Capt. P. L. Crichton, veteran army flier, was killed and Owen Haugland, pilot of the endurance plane, Minnesota, was critically injured here today when the plane crashed after being in the air 153 hours.

The plane crashed just five minutes after a note had been dropped asking for gasoline and telling onlookers that all was well

The note added that no oil was needed.

Then as the ship zoomed into the clouds, it was seen to falter. The Minnesota went into a tail spin, hovered perilously over Weld-Chamberlain airport, and with the speed of a meteor, crashed to the ground

Crichton Pilot

Crichton was dead when rescuers reached the plane Haugland was unconscious and was rushed to a hospital

Crichton was piloting the plane at the time.

Haugland, who has made four attempts to better the record now being established in St. Louis, was believed to have been asleep when the crash occurred He was found stretched up on an improvised bed

Authorities were at a loss to account for the crash. The plane was apparently functioning well when it careened wildly and plunged downward.

St. Louis Robin Up 387 Hours

LAMBERT FIELD, ST. LOUIS, July 29—The St. Louis Robin, piloted by Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brine, passed its 387th hour of sustained flying at 10.17 a. m St Louis time At that time the monoplane had been up more than 141 hours past the old world endurance record

Dust parched lips formed just one question today as necks creaked backward and bloodshot eyes peered into a blazing harvest sun.

"When are they coming down?"

MERCURY HITS 90 AS CITY SWELTERS

Sunday Registered as One of Three Hottest Days of Year in Marion

Marion sweltered yesterday under temperatures that were on par with the year's highest when the mercury mounted to 90 degrees. This temperature has been equalled but three times this year, on Memorial day, June 1, and July 23, Dr. E. H. Baffensperger, official weatherman, reported today.

Bathing beaches became the destination of many of the thousands of tourists that lined the roads, while a veritable parade of automobiles moved between Marion homes and ice plants

The heat wave was broken last night by showers shortly after midnight, which brought the low mark to 65 degrees. Little relief was felt here today, however, as a brilliant sun gave promise of another scorcher

Generally fair tonight and Tuesday is predicted for Marion, little promise of cooler weather. A year ago the high temperature was reported at 72 degrees, the low at 51.

Worldwide Drought Broken by Showers

NEW YORK, July 29 — The parched throat of nature, not to speak of perspiring bipeds, today drank in eagerly local showers which broke the drought prevailing over the world.

While the weather bureau reported no sustained rainfall in any portion of the country, temporary relief was recorded in many states with probable local showers for localities yet unvisited by the automatic sprinkling system.

Albany, N. Y., received relief today from the highest temperature mark—90 degrees—when a sharp shower descended upon the city. Previously, unofficial mercury readings throughout the state capital were reported as reaching as high as 112 degrees.

Columbus, O., reported 92 above. New York City, with the grass in its public parks turning to hay from a rain deficiency since May 24, was promised local thundershowers for this afternoon. The temperature dropped from 92 to 83

The lack of rainfall was reported as affecting the drinking water supply of small summer communities throughout the country. In many resorts, residents were requested not to use water for sprinkling the lawn or for washing automobiles.

Nomerous deaths were reported throughout the nation caused directly and indirectly by the heat wave. These included drownings, prostrations, and automobile accidents from vacation traffic.

QUITS AS SCHOOL HEAD

NEW LEXINGTON, July 29— Prof. Arthur Swartz, superintendent of the New Lexington schools for the past two years, resigned here today. His successor has not been appointed.

AUBURN RIOT FINALLY ENDS

New York State Herds Prisoners into Cell; Four Make Escape

2 KILLED, 11 WOUNDED

Troopers and Firemen Fight Blaze Despite Rain of Bullets

AUBURN, N. Y. July 29—Maddened, 1,768 of them, gibbered and gesticulated today behind the bars of what was yesterday the Auburn prison.

Jammed like animals in the east wing cell block, where normally, but a third of their numbers might be accommodated, the convicts, though raged stewed bereft of reason.

Their faces blackened and smeared by their 24 hours of unbridled passion in the flame gutted quadrangle of the prison yard, they shouted curses, shrieked imprecations and danced as might great apes whenever any semblance of authority appeared.

Denied Food, Water

But the situation in ancient Auburn is more fraught with peril today, in the opinion of Brig. Gen. Edgar S. Jennings, the warden, than during the height of the blood-red battle that waged in the quadrangle as the frenzied convict horde fought for liberty.

The men have not been fed or even given water since the outbreak at 1:30 p. m Sunday.

They have been told that only when they quiet down, so that they may be led out in small detachments, and led back to regular cells spaces, will any effort be made to feed them, to give them water, or to allow them a chance to bathe.

With six of its buildings leveled by incendiary fires, Auburn prison presented the aspect of a wartorn village today as pillars rounded the countryside in search of four desperate criminals who escaped from the penal stronghold after leading the most sensational jailbreak in the history of New York state.

It was not until the early hours of this morning, after a careful check-up of the prisoners, that the identity of the escaped convicts became known. Then the police departments of cities throughout the eastern United States and Canada were asked to watch for the following four men:

Arthur Barry, 39, sentenced to 25 years imprisonment from Nassau county for first degree burglary.

Joseph Caprico, 20, serving 20 years for second degree robbery. He was sentenced in Rochester.

Steve Pawlak, 29, sentenced from Erie county to life imprisonment as a fourth offender on a first degree robbery charge

George Small, 33, New York City, serving 12 years for second degree robbery

2 Killed, 11 Wounded

Two prisoners were shot and killed, 11 were wounded, some of them critically, and four jailers were wounded by bullets from riot guns in the hands of the convicts before the uprising was quelled after a bloody battle of five hours, during which state troopers from miles around reinforced the prison guard and firemen braved a baptism of fire in an unsuccessful effort to save the burning buildings.

Names of the dead convicts were announced today as Joseph Cirrin-

LATE NEWS

Take $15,000 in Silk

EASTON, Pa.—After binding the watchman to a chair, five armed men escaped, with about $15,000 worth of raw silks from the Tirrell Brothers silk mill in Phillipsburg, N. J., near here today. Wilson Werkheiser, 65, the watchman, was freed when the day watchman reported. The quintet drilled the lock from the vault where the silk was stored and hauled it away in a truck.

Theater Safe Stolen

IRONTON—Police today were hunting for the thieves who carted away a 700-pound safe from the Marlow theater here, last night, after breaking into the business office. The office was on an upper floor. The looters carried the heavy safe through the theater to the alley entrance and took it away in a truck. The safe was reported to have contained $600 in cash.

The dead: Mrs. Sarah E. Clark, 28, Ada, Ohio; Eva R. Clark, her daughter. A third woman was seriously injured.

WEDDING IS DELAYED

Helen Wills, women's tennis champion of the world, returns from Europe on the S. S. Aquitania, with the Wimbledon championship safely tucked away with her many other victories abroad. She wore a beige frock with skirts well below the knees and—stockings! She told of her reception by Queen Mary and announced she won't be married until after Christmas.

17 Ohioans Lose Lives in Terrific Heat Wave and Accidents Over Week-end

Auto Mishaps Result In Death of Seven, with Score Injured; Five Die in Waters While Heat Takes Its Toll

COLUMBUS, July 29—That 17 persons met death and more than a score of others were injured as a result of the terrific heat wave and accidents over the week-end in Ohio, was shown here today by an inspection of International News Service reports received from all sections of the Buckeye state.

Auto mishaps resulted in the death of seven persons and the injuring of more than a score of other passengers. Five Ohioans were drowned, one was fatally shot while trying to stop a gun fight and four persons died as a result of the heat.

Of the auto fatalities, two were killed near Springfield, and one person was killed at each of the following cities: Kent, Dayton, Kenton, Canton and Norwalk. The gun fight was near Cadiz. The fatal heat prostrations occurred at Cleveland, Cincinnati and Gallipolis. The drownings took place at Springfield, Malta and near Newark, Hamilton and New Carlisle

One man was killed and 16 persons were injured when four automobiles collided on a road three miles south of Kent. Oliver Hill, 28, of Johnsonburg, Pa., is the dead man. Several others are in hospitals, and John McReady of Akron is not expected to live. The accident occurred when one automobile sideswiped another and two others piled up against the wreckage.

Two Dayton youths, Franklin Roberts and Russell McMillan, suffered fatal injuries when the automobile in which they were riding, skidded into a telephone pole near Springfield. Roberts was instantly killed and McMillan died in a Springfield hospital, a short time after the crash.

Cleveland's Deaths

Cleveland reported two deaths due to the heat wave. Jacob Vogt, 62, and John C. Fulton, 28, are the dead there.

The heat claimed another victim in Gallia county, near Gallipolis, when Joseph Davis died because of the intense warmth of the weather.

Cecil Kinkade, 21, of Malta, was drowned in the Muskingum river near Zanesville. The accident occurred at a point known as Hockey Locks.

Wades Beyond Depth

John Ernst, 30, lost his life in a small creek near Newark while bathing.

William Hawkins, 22, who resides at Reily, near Hamilton, waded beyond his depth in a stream near his home and was drowned. He could not swim.

Robert Kollert, 20, of Leroy, O., is dead as the result of an accident when his motorcycle was struck by an automobile.

MAN'S DECAPITATION RESULTS IN LAWSUIT

$10,000 Damages Asked for Unusual Cardington Rd. Auto Accident

Rose Everly, administrator of the estate of Peter Everly, has filed a $10,000 damage suit in common pleas court of Marion county against Jeff B Henry, of Cardington

The suit is the result of a fatal injuries suffered by Everly when a chain dangling from a truck caught him about the neck, decapitating him. The truck, according to the petition filed this morning, was owned by Henry.

The accident occurred on the Marion-Cardington rd., on May 11

The plaintiff is represented by the law firm of Corkwell & Larrimer, of Columbus.

The plaintiff claims in her petition, that the accident was the result of the negligence of the truck owner. When the accident occurred Everly was walking along the road. As the truck passed him, from the opposite direction, a chain hanging from the endgate caught him around the neck. His head was jerked from his body.

Son of Flying Field Founder Dies in Crash

BLACK JACK, Mo., July 29 — George Lee Lambert, son of Maj. Albert Bond Lambert, founder of Lambert flying field at St. Louis, was killed in an airplane crash here today. The tragedy occurred within a few miles of Lambert field and almost within sight of the St. Louis Robin, the endurance plane which is zooming through its seventeenth day in the air.

QUARREL ENDS IN GUN ATTACK

Harley McCumber Dies in City Hospital; Wife Held as Assailant

PRISONER AT JAIL

Shot Fired In Home at Morral After Visit with Neighbors

BULLETIN

Harley McCumber died at 1:25 o'clock this afternoon at City hospital.

Harley McCumber, 30, died in City hospital at 1:25 o'clock this afternoon, the victim of bullet wounds inflicted by his wife at their home in Morral late Saturday night. The wife, Verdie McCumber, 33, is held prisoner in the county jail.

McCumber was shot through the abdomen by his wife following a quarrel, according to Prosecuting Attorney Alfred Donithen and Sheriff John J. Francis, both of whom investigated the affair. The soft nosed bullet pierced the intestines in four places and punctured the stomach, according to Dr. A. A. Starner, who treated the victim at the hospital.

Scene of Shooting

The shooting occurred in the dining room of the McCumber residence about 11:30 o'clock Saturday night. McCumber, according to the prosecuting attorney, had been upstairs. As he descended the steps to the dining room Mrs. McCumber is claimed to have drawn a .22 calibre revolver from a buffet drawer The gun was discharged as McCumber reached the lower steps

"You won't go out again. I'll shoot you and I'll hang for it."

McCumber told Prosecuting Attorney Donithen this morning that his wife made these statements just before she fired the gun. Donithen stated that McCumber was rational this morning.

Visit Neighbors

After 9:30 o'clock Saturday night the McCumbers had been at home. They had spent the evening with neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Forest M. Dull. Mrs. McCumber and Mrs Dull had been away from the house during the early part of the evening but had returned to the McCumber home about 9:30 o'clock. Shortly afterward their husbands came to the house.

About 10:30 o'clock the Dulls went home. According to the prosecutor, they were accompanied by McCumber. Mrs. McCumber soon followed her husband and demanded that he go home. A quarrel is said to have followed

The quarrel continued while they were returning to the home and did not cease until the shooting.

After the shooting McCumber ran from the house. His wife followed him. On the outside of the house the revolver was again discharged by Mrs. McCumber. According to neighbors, who heard the first shot, the second shot was fired into the air. Officials this morning doubted any attempt at suicide on the part of Mrs. McCumber.

Disarms Her

John Marshal, a near neighbor of the Dulls, ran to the McCumber residence when he heard the first shot. He disarmed Mrs. McCumber after she had fired the gun the second time.

Mr. and Mrs. McCumber were married a year ago last Tuesday. According to Sheriff Francis, Mrs. McCumber has been married three times. She is a native of New Hampshire.

McCumber is said to have been brought to the City hospital by Dwight Gibson of Green Camp, who was driving past the house at the time of the shooting.

New York Cheers Williams and Yancey On Return to U. S.

ROUSING WELCOME FOR ROME FLIERS

Meeting Is Forerunner of Official Celebration Scheduled for Today

RETURN ON REPUBLIC

Special Church Service Arranged for Airmen Who Crossed Atlantic

NEW YORK, July 29—New York city officialdom and the aristocracy of the world of aviation joined yesterday in staging a rousing welcome for Roger Williams and Capt Lewis A Yancey Rome fliers when they arrived here aboard the Republic from Cherbourg

The fliers who took off from Old Orchard Me on July 8 on what became a one stop flight to Rome were met at quarantine by the city's official reception committee and a large number of their friends

Other admirers made the trip to the lower harbor via motor boats and planes, amphibians and sea planes

The day's welcome was a forerunner of the official celebration this afternoon and indicated that the city is genuinely appreciative of the feat of the two New Yorkers in blazing the air trail to the Eternal City

Greeted by Band

The Republic arrived at quarantine at 9 o'clock and as the big steamer dropped anchor the birdmen were greeted with a round of martial music Airplanes piloted by Capt George Haldmann and Elinor Smith circled the ship as the sirens of the harbor craft reared an enthusiastic welcome

Williams and Yancey fraternized as a result of their stay under the Mediterranean skies boarded the city tug Macom at 10 o'clock, making no effort to conceal their unbounded joy at being home To the accompaniment of heavy applause the fliers after a brief salutation from Grover Mann Christie Robsnack and Thomas Malone who represented the mayor's committee hastened to the cabin of the tugboat where their wives awaited them

Surrounded on Deck

The homecomers were on deck a few moments later, surrounded by newspaper men and newsreel photographers and to the former gave some new and interesting information as to the spectacular transatlantic flight

Following their arrival in the city Williams and Yancey were placed in gaily decorated cars and hastened through town to St Patrick's Cathedral where a special mass had been arranged The party arrived at the cathedral at 11 o'clock and were again greeted by a huge crowd which jammed Fifth av and taxed the efforts of police reserves to keep the sidewalks clear

At the conclusion of the mass the fliers and their party were taken to the Hotel McAlpin where following another series of interviews and photographs a luncheon was served

Povanmire-Miller Wedding Solemnized at Home of Bride in Columbus

The marriage of Miss Portia Miller and M. A. Povenmire was solemnized at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Miller, 670 Oakwood ave., Columbus, in the presence of about 175 relatives and friends. The Rev. P. C. Wolf, former pastor of Oakwood M. E. church, read the single ring service.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Povenmire left on a two-weeks wedding trip through the East, after which they will be at home at Meeker, where Mr. Povenmire is employed as superintendent of the centralized schools.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Anabel Miller, as maid of honor, and E. K. Povenmire, of LaRue, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Povenmire are graduates of Ohio State university and for the last three years Mrs. Povenmire has been employed as a teacher in the Westhope High school at McClure. Mr. Povenmire is a former principal of the Prospect High school.

Guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wiley, of Meeker, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hedges and Mrs. C. H. Hunziker, of Prospect.

PARENTS HAPPY WHEN BABY SLEEPS SOUNDLY

Here's a way to soothe crying, wakeful babies to sleep quickly and easily. It's the way doctors endorse, and millions of mothers have proved is safe and harmless. A few drops of purely-vegetable, pleasant-tasting Fletcher's Castoria, has the most fretful, restless baby or child asleep in a few minutes! And for colic, constipation, colds and upset spells, there's nothing like Castoria. The Chas. H. Fletcher signature is the mark of genuine Castoria. Avoid imitations and be safe.—Adv.

"Let's open the windshield. It's such a hot day."

How Fred's happiness was nearly ruined by "B.O." (Body Odor)

TODAY—he had planned to propose. But her attitude froze him. What could be the matter? It was hot, to be sure. But why should that distress her so?

Fred never suspected "B. O." then. Yet body odor isn't interfering with his happiness now—he's married to Anne. Read how he found the easy way to keep perspiration odorless.

Perspiration without "B. O."

"Like any normal, healthy human being, I perspire—particularly in hot weather. I've been told that pores give off as much as a quart of waste daily.

"But it never occurred to me that perspiration means 'B.O.' We become insensitive to an ever-present odor. I offended—unknowingly!

"Then I changed to Lifebuoy—and what a difference! When I step out of my daily tub now, I feel alive—gloriously clean! Pores are purified so deeply by Lifebuoy's marvelous antiseptic lather, that 'B.O.' is prevented.

"Lifebuoy's a fine skin soap, too. It guards health—by removing germs. Its pleasant extra-clean scent, that vanishes as you rinse, tells you Lifebuoy purifies."

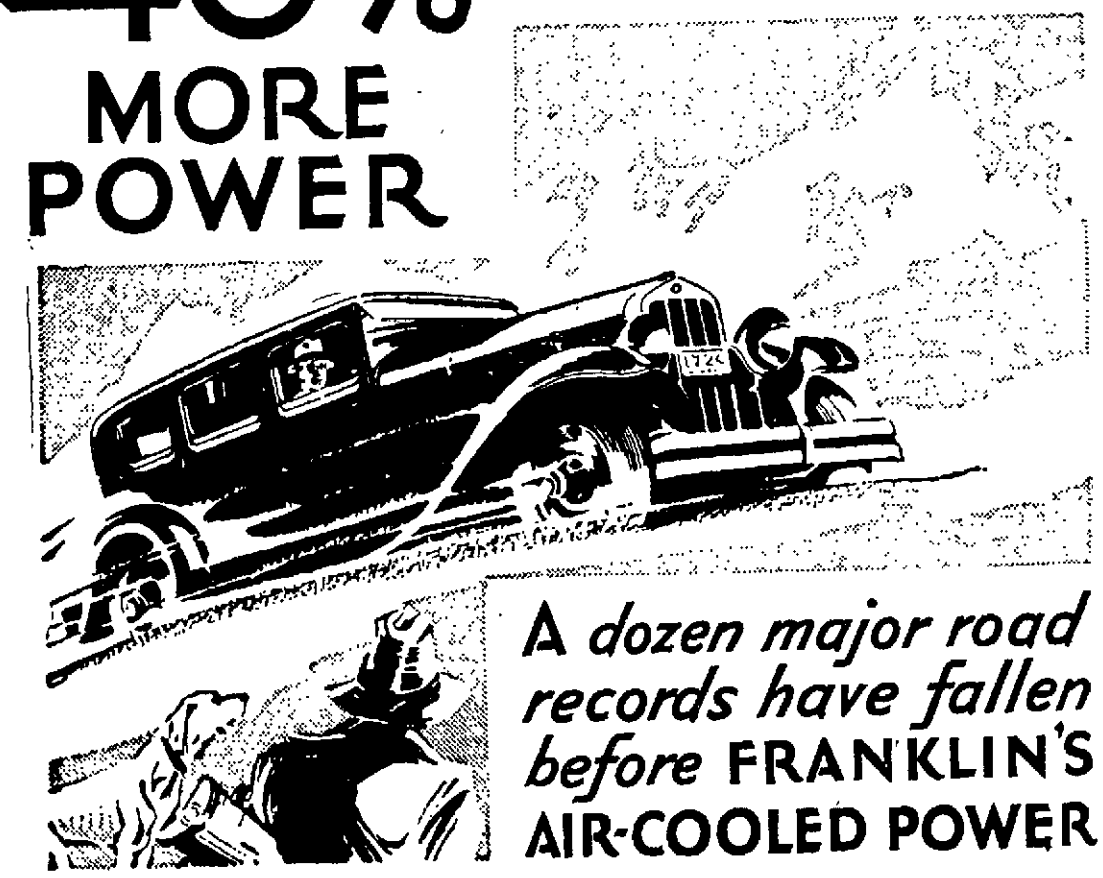
40% MORE POWER



A dozen major road records have fallen before FRANKLIN'S AIR-COOLED POWER

FRANKLIN ROAD RECORDS	FRANKLIN ADVANTAGES
Los Angeles to New York and return	Motor air-cooled as in airplanes
New York to Chicago	High sustained road speed
New York to Miami	Rapid acceleration at 50—power to pass in a pinch
Salt Lake City to Los Angeles	Quiet-as-high second gear
Los Angeles-Phoenix Desert Derby	Full-elliptic springs with double-acting hydraulic controls
San Francisco to Los Angeles	Roomiest 5 and 7 passenger sedans
Dallas to El Paso	Extra width seats
Lookout Mountain climb	Quick-adjustable front seats
Mt. Mitchell climb	Non-shatter windshield
Mt. Washington climb	Clear vision corner posts
Mt. Diablo round trip and double round trip

With Franklin's air-cooled power, which is 40% greater than last year—and the biggest power increase of any present-day car—you get the stamina, the endurance, the power and safety that are necessary to produce record-breaking performance. A short drive in a Franklin and you sense great reserve power as you gain speed on your favorite steep hill—or flash ahead to 50 in second gear as quietly as in high. You pass easily in a pinch—without a feeling of strain. In traffic you have absolute peace of mind—so confidently and easily you control Franklin. On the open road only joy and comfort are your motoring companions. And all day you can drive Franklin at top speed without over-heating, loss of power or fear of injury to the motor.

In one year, Franklin has captured all America's major road records—a feat never before accomplished by one car—a dramatic testimony of Franklin's amazing air-cooled performance.

Experience the AIRPLANE FEEL

But drive the car—see for yourself. You will instantly feel a different and finer type of response than you have ever experienced before.

Bender Puts Off Representation Amendment for Year

NOT TO BE VOTED ON TILL NEXT YEAR

Senator Says Action Due To Failure To Obtain Necessary Census Figures

"TIME HAS NOT COME"

Amendment Would Materially Increase Representation of Cities

COLUMBUS, July 29—The time has not yet come!

Figuratively saying that, Senator George H. Bender, Cleveland solon in the upper house of the state legislature, today had announced that his so-called "equal representation" amendment will be submitted to Ohio voters at the November election in 1930, instead of this year.

Bender explained that his action was due to failure to obtain the necessary census figures for his proposed reapportionment until next summer.

The amendment, proposed by the fiery young hardware dealer, seeks a reapportionment of the members of both houses in the state legislature based upon the population of various districts.

This amendment, if passed by the "voice of the people," would materially increase the representation of [illegible] in the state law-making body.

At present, every county in the state is allowed at least one representative in the house and further claims this is unfair to the more populous counties.

DEATH VICTOR

Pursues Horse Through Series of Unusual Accidents

CAMBRIDGE, July 29 — An accident, unique in the history of Guernsey county, is today held responsible for the death of a horse belonging to George Yoho.

A team was standing beside a threshing machine when one of the animals kicked at a fly. The tail of the horse was caught in the thresher belt and was pulled out by the roots.

The horse ran away. Captured, it was loaded into a truck to be taken to a veterinary. En route through a field the truck upset, hurling the horse into a barbed-wire fence.

It was injured so badly that the owner had the horse shot. The driver of the truck escaped hurts in the second accident.

Farm Board Chairman

SPEAKER AT INSTITUTE

To Be Heard on Radio

ALEXANDER LEGGE'S next public speech since he was made chairman of President Hoover's new Federal Farm Board will be heard over a nation-wide network of NBC stations at 10 o'clock Tuesday night. The speech, to be made before the fifth annual meeting of the American Institute of Cooperation at Baton Rouge, La., will be transmitted to WJZ in New York City which will furnish the outlet for the network broadcast of the speech.

In his address Legge is expected to outline the future aims of the board. The program, according to present plans, will be picked up from the campus of the University of Louisiana, where the meeting will be held.

Chairman Legge will be introduced by John D. Miller, chairman of the convening body. Other agricultural experts scheduled to speak are A. M. Hyde, secretary of agriculture, Carl Williams, of Oklahoma, and C. C. Teague, of California, members of the new board.

Cooperative marketing experts from all sections of the country are expected to attend the meeting, which is described as a clearing house for discussion of system and practice in this form of marketing.

FAMOUS ARTISTS ON ALL-STAR PROGRAM

BROADCAST artists, known wherever radio is heard, will be featured in a new series of all-star programs to be inaugurated by the National Broadcasting Company at 7 o'clock Tuesday night.

Talent for the series will be drawn from the NBC's own ranks, the artists to be presented in roles differing from those they usually play before the microphone according to sponsors of the plan. The new series will be known as the "Rendez Vous at 711."

The initial program will feature an announcer's quartet composed of Milton J. Cross, Ralph Freese, Gurt Peterson and Markey R. Sherrin. Phillips Carlin will serve as master of ceremonies while Edwin Whitney will do a monologue in the first presentation. John Wiggin will offer a piano solo and Gertrude Foster will contribute a vocal solo.

• • •

TALANTED SOPRANO ON FADA SALON HOUR

CARMEN SEGRERA DOLORES, talented young soprano, who has been widely acclaimed throughout Europe, will face the microphone for the first time when she appears as the guest artist of the Fada Salon Hour at 9 o'clock Tuesday night over a large network of stations of the Columbia broadcasting system.

Miss Dolores has been in this country only a few months but even in that short time has made several short subjects for the audible films and has sung in concert with Richard Crooks and other well-known artists. She will sing two numbers on the program Tuesday, one of which will be the melodious "Ay-Ay-Ay" and the other yet to be selected by the featured artist.

OLYMPIC CHAMPION IN "ROADS OF THE SKY"

FRED W. KELLY, world champion hurdler of the Olympic games who has been flying the mail for the past three years, will tell of "Hurdling The Sierra's Salt Lake to Los Angeles" as the next speaker in the nationwide broadcast series, "Roads Of The Sky" over the WEAF network at 6 o'clock Tuesday night.

During 1928 Kelly flew 115,750 miles. A nationwide survey by leading newspapers credit him with more mileage during the year than any other pilot in commercial service.

When Kelly was mustered out of service after the war he became an air mail pilot and has since been hurdling the Sierra Nevada mountains in daily flights from Salt Lake to Los Angeles, more recently directing one of the night planes. He is now chief pilot of the Salt Lake division of the Western Air Express.

OHIO WOMAN HELD IN DEATH OF HUSBAND

Says She Hit Him on Head with Coffee Pot and He Fell Downstairs

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, July 29—"I hit him on the head with a coffee pot. He fell downstairs. He struck his head on a concrete block."

Mrs. William Riebe of West Wheeling, near here, made that statement to local police when she was taken into custody here after her husband had died at the Riebe home, yesterday.

William Riebe, the husband, who was 46 years old, was a contracting carpenter and the woman's second husband.

Her first husband, James Church died two years ago, and, according to Belmont county officials, Mrs. Riebe, then Mrs. Church, was taken into custody and held for questioning while the body of Church was exhumed and its vital organs were examined. The coroner's report, however, failed to find any indication of any criminal act, and the woman was released at that time.

A doctor, who made an examination of Riebe's body reported to Coroner J. W. Neal that he found no evidence of injury except a bruise on the nose, apparently made by the coffee pot.

Riebe's vital organs and stomach were removed and sent to the University at Columbus for a chemical analysis.

Dies of Injuries He Recevied in Binder

ZANESVILLE, July 29—Arrangements are being made today for the funeral of Howard Murray, 16, of Chandlersville, who died in the Bethesda hospital from injuries which he suffered when he was caught in a binder at his father's farm.

The youth was dragged more than 100 yards before the team could be stopped. He suffered heavy loss of blood.

Check Massachusetts Cars After Accidents

BOSTON, July 29—Every automobile on the road in Massachusetts today was halted by state, city and town inspectors in the most extensive surprise automobile checkup campaign on record.

Licenses and registrations were examined and checked and equipment was inspected.

The drive came on the heels of a toll of 222 deaths by automobiles last week and four deaths on Sunday in the Bay State.

Grandson of Marionites Killed in Auto Crash

Word has been received here of the death of Kenneth Albert Cover, aged 23, at the U. S. Marine hospital, Washington, resulting from injuries sustained in an auto crash.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John V. Cover, Scienceville, O., and was well known here. He was the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Messenger, 237 North Seffner av.

Cover's two companions, John Manning, Milwaukee, and Arthur T. Smith, Salem, also members of the U. S. Marines, died instantly in the crash, which occurred last Tuesday.

Cover was a graduate of the Scienceville High school and attended Athens university. He enlisted two years ago in the marines.

In addition to his parents, Cover is survived by the following brothers and sisters: Rutledge, Gerald, L. and Mrs. Mildred Miller, Mrs. Rose Luxon, Mrs. Kathryn Wellendorf and Miss Verne Cover.

Funeral services will take place Tuesday afternoon at the Cover home and interment will be made in Hoytsville cemetery, Youngstown.

Guards Taken Unaware

[illegible] d the shadow of a doubt this [illegible] came closer to resulting in [illegible] al delivery of the 1,600 crim- [illegible] housed in Auburn prison than [illegible] the last jail uprising in the history of the state Carefully planned and possibly engineered by powerful underworld forces outside the institution, the break occurred with such startling suddenness that the guards were taken entirely unawares, and in a few minutes the entire place was in an uproar

The 150 guards who comprise the prison staff were hard pressed to prevent a general riot until state trooper armed with machine guns, rifles pistols and riot guns, arrived on the scene to help hold the criminals at bay But in spite of these reinforcements, augmented hourly as troopers arrived from more distant stations the riot lasted for five hours, the movements of the criminals being hidden by the heavy pall of smoke thrown up from the burning buildings.

Buildings Razed

Virtually every structure on the prison grounds with the exception of the main sleeping quarters of the men and women prisoners was razed to the ground Preliminary estimates of the material damage exceeded the quarter million dollar mark and in addition virtually all the prison records including, Bertillon cards and finger prints were lost in the blaze

The break occurred shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon while the bulk of the prisoners were enjoying an afternoon off in the prison yard The leaders of the riot believed to have been eight in number overpowered the two guards assigned to the key room having attracted their attention by a ruse Knocking the guards senseless the convicts dashed for the arsenal a closet built into one of the heavy walls

Grab Riot Guns

There in the space of a moment, they equipped themselves with riot guns held in reserve for use of the guards in case of just such an emergency as this and dashed through the prison yard toward the main gate Capturing Newton J Ryder main gatekeeper and using him as a shield to prevent guards in the wall turrets from opening fire some of the ringleaders scaled the high wall to the street

In the meantime the convicts in the yard hastily seizing the guns and ammunition pilfered from the arsenal opened fire on the guards while one detachment apparently by preconcerted plan rushed into an organized pandemonium In a few moments six buildings were ablaze and while smoke billowed from the burning structures the exchange of shots which was to last almost six hours and lay 20 victims low began in earnest

Call State Troopers

Frantic appeals sent out by prison officials brought state troopers from Oneida Syracuse and Auburn as well as other towns within a radius of 30 miles Within an hour after the outbreak occurred steady stream of lead from machine guns and rifles poured down into the prison yards, driving the convicts back into shelter but failing to dim their fighting spirit For hours the battle raged with scores of armed men scaling the walls and braving the hail of lead in useless efforts to fight the ever spreading flames, and it was not until almost 7 o'clock in the evening before the riot was completely quelled The convicts surrendered in small groups at a time.

With order at last restored guards and state troopers herded the sweating frenzied convicts into the corridors, and once again locked them into the tiny cells where in accommodations originally intended for 1,220 prisoners 1,700 have been forced to live sleeping three and four in a room in double-decked cots.

New White House Phones Require Diplomatic Use

WASHINGTON—With the installation of several new telephones in the White House one of which stands on the president's desk four diplomats in a small basement room of the White House have additional need of their tact and diplomacy

They are I W Smithers chief operator and his three assistants Jules A Rodier Frederick Hollein and M M Rice They form the first line of defense between the president and his secretaries and the continuous bombardment of telephone calls

Theirs is the task to tell fruitfully the man who voted for Hoover and cannot see why he shouldn't tell him so over the wire that the president's time is wholly taken up with official business They steer the cranks away They often refer the man with a grievance to the proper department They let a few through to the secretaries who in turn decide whether they should go further

Sometimes it isn't so easy For free born taxpayer from a rural section is apt to stand on his rights and demand flatly that he be allowed to talk freely to the man who represents him at the head of the government He is not going to be dictated either Where does the operator get that stuff?

Feels Better

He doesn't get his call through But when he hangs up the receiver on his end he generally feels that in spite of the heavy pressure of business at the Executive Mansion the visiting citizen is treated pretty courteously And he knows the president works harder than he does The operator has taken time to tell him those things in a friendly way

Then there is the man who has a grievance He is always steered to the proper department and sometimes appointments are made for him with the proper executive by the operator

Occasionally a crank or drunk calls The drunks are turned away usually unless they call repeatedly but stronger will is taken with the cranks who want to give the president some confidential information or to a retired member or to present him a thousand dollars The call is traced while the operator keeps him talking and a secret service man is sent around to talk to him

Others call who think it would be a nice thing to talk a minute with the president and who are surprised and apologetic when they find he is too busy They generally are turned

Change Number

Herbert the presidents have used the telephone sparingly and none so far Mr Hoover has had one on his desk though they have been in the mansion since President Hayes installed one on May 10 1878

A number have been added since March 4 Just as the White House staff has been greatly augmented for it is characteristic of Mr Hoover that he keeps in intimate touch with the doings of his administration subordinates

The call number was originally plain No 1 Twenty nine years ago it became Main 8 one of the first famous numbers in the country Now with the installation of the dial system in sight it has become National 1414 which is still to be the easiest number on the dial to remember

Hollywood Folk Divide On Whether It Pays To Be Fat

Controversy Over Weight Problem Continues in Movie Colony

HOLLYWOOD—The movie colony has not yet settled the weight problem The battle rages unceasing

Monte Brice, Pathe comedy supervisor definitely came out for well rounded good humored folks today While he does not favor prodigious weights Brice praises stout people for their good humor, perhaps because they laugh the most at his comedies

'Laugh and grow fat" advises Brice Those who grow stout are usually happy or other words fat people usually laugh a great deal

'This is not hard to understand Nothing causes indigestion and upset nervous conditions so rapidly as bad humor Anger generates poison through the system Nervous people burn their energy out in unnecessary exertion, and do not allow fat to form because of their incessant action

The good humored person takes life more gently He doesn't burn himself out with false stimulus Quiet easy going people usually eat slowly, and consequently their food is easily assimilated

Brice deplores styles that quarrel with nature

'Women are undermining their health by egg and tomato diets taking so much acidity into their systems. A large life insurance company recently issued warnings to the feminine sex that their health is in danger from the fad for dieting. Personally, I see nothing attractive in the flat chested thin legged girl of today" he concludes

And anyway, fat people like comedies.

GEORGE FITZMAURICE, film director, fears the films are running too much to close ups, to insertion. "Dialogue is being overdone," he suggests. "There is no reason for discarding the fine art of pantomime, just because the screen has gone talkie"

"It is annoying to see a dialogue close-up, and then jump back to an off-screen character to get his reaction in movement and speech," the director says. "The screen should be filled with speaking players, so as to get better illusion of reality. The ear never hears anything in close-ups; nor does the eye see inanimate bodies."

Fitzmaurice vows that in his next production action and movement will be paramount, and dialogue secondary.

THE role of a doctor in pictures by Clive Brook in "Interference" pleased Dr. H. H. Hall, president of the West Virginia State Medical Association, so greatly that he played his appreciation in a letter recently turned over to Brook

The doctor also commended Robert Leeson's characterization of a medical man in "The Dummy"

It took the movies a few years to get rid of the Van Dyke beard now since the doctor declares and now it appears that the doctor of the screen has at last become a real doctor instead of a weird old brother toying with sixth scopes and thermometers Needless to say the change is to the great delight of the medical profession

The medical profession really owes a debt of gratitude to the actors, directors and makers of these two pictures Dr Hall said in closing his letter They picture on the screen the type of mellow rounded out, season inn every doctor would like to be The two types depicted by the two actors in these movie dramas would be an inspiration to any tyro

DR. SNOOK BECOMES ILL IN COURTROOM

Accused Slayer of Hix Girl Appears Pale; Slumps in Chair

Four successive court days devoted entirely to has led all other reasons for dismissal of talesmen Of the 62 prospective jurors examined up to late this afternoon 21 had fixed opinions Thirteen were challenged because of their opposition to capital punishment The others were excused for various reasons, such as residing on the farm defective hearing, or ill health

The original panel of 75 talesmen is nearing exhaustion A new panel of 90 men and women appeared in court today and were sworn in for possible jury duty

The heat in the crowded courtroom and the long grind of jury selection began to try the nerves of the attorneys While the fifty eighth talesman C D Trimble a traveling salesman was undergoing examination, Prosecuting Attorney John J Chester Jr and E O Ricketts of defense counsel engaged in a hot debate,

Slumps in Chair

Don't try to scare me Mr Ricketts" retorted the much younger Mr Chester

The court rapped for order and the examination of Trimble continued He was finally excused

Dr Snook looking rather pale today sat slumped in his chair paying little attention to the proceedings Frequently he closed his eyes and seemed to be at a thought He paid no attention to the big audience of girls and women who stared at him

Mr and Mrs Melvin J Hix parents of the slain girl sat 30 paces away They seemed to be wilted

Finally the jury box was filled when Donald E Lee bookkeeper in a bank was accepted

He took seat No 2 and the court declared a recess

It will be necessary however to select a thirteenth or emergency juror

Rejects Juror No 7

But the jury box did not remain filled for long When the recess was over the defense rejected Juror No 7 Mrs Nellie McClintock, a house wife

On went the examination of talesmen J S White a secretary, was quickly excused when he said he did not think he could sentence a man to death The next talesman was excused because of an incorrect initial in his judgment

Then came Paul L Weaver, the sixty seventh talesman questioned His sister and mother live in Mansfield O He knew Prosecutor Chester in army days but this fact would not influence him He was not opposed to capital punishment He had no fixed opinion

Weaver was accepted and entered the box as Juror No 7 With the jury box again filled court was adjourned until 1 P M o'clock this afternoon when a thirteenth, or emergency juror, will have to be selected in the event the state and defense exercise no more peremptory challenges

The press handling of the Snook murder trial seemingly is following the regulation course. It may be noted that the late Miss Hix is now being referred to as the 'pretty coed'.

Ever since noting that an annual rental of $45 000 is being asked for an apartment in a well known New York City hotel we've been wondering what would be the charge for taking a look at it.

It has developed that the gorilla which has been terrifying people out near Lilzabeth Illinois is a big monkey which escaped from a circus. The bootleg stuff out that way must be unusually bad.

The crew of the Robin may figure that they are all to the good by pulling down $100 an hour each, but they aren't. They are giving up a lot of vital energy worth far more, even though they do not realize it today and may not realize it tomorrow or a year from tomorrow.

A Cleveland judge has ruled that a thirteen year old boy can not legally drive a car even though he be accompanied by an adult. A judge like that would prove something of a killjoy down here where youngsters of seven lesser years are often seen at the steering-wheel of cars.

Thus far this year, railway freight traffic has been the heaviest in railroad history, the revenue freight carried the first twenty-seven weeks of the year having amounted to 26 505 770 cars an increase of 4 7 per cent over the business for the same period in 1928. Sometimes we are inclined to believe that the chief ill from which this country suffers is psychological.

Eight helpless horses were killed in the Madrid bull ring, the afternoon the young Brooklyn toreador made his initial appearance in the Spanish capital before he and two other toreadors had killed the six bulls set apart for the afternoon's program. They call that sport over in Spain!

Ten sixteen drive wheel engines weighing 306 000 pounds each with cabs in front have been delivered to the Southern Pacific to haul heavy trains through the mountains of California. It is just possible that the location of the cab, in addition to improving clearness of observation of the track ahead and approaches to it will also prove something of a problem to the bandits who have been holding up engine crews out that way by covering them from the doors of baggage cars.

Dr William Mayo expresses the belief that prohibition is gaining ground. "The great middle class is no longer drinking. The class at the top and the dregs at the bottom are still at it." As the 'class at the top' has to defy the law to get and possess the liquor, would it not have been better had the great Minnesota surgeon referred to it as the class which thinks it is at the top?

Very Small Town Stuff.

Noisy weddings are taboo in Lorain. the chief of police up there has given notice that hereafter the dragging of a bride and groom about the city to the accompaniment of automobile horns, tin cans and other noise making instruments will not be tolerated, that each and every attempt to stage such a stunt in the future will be run down and the participants therein arrested as parties to the perpetration of a nuisance. As the chief has been moved to take the position he has on the request of Lorain business men and civic leaders, whose solid backing he has there can be little doubt regarding the suppression in Lorain of the throwback to barbarism which is so frequently made manifest on the streets of the smaller cities.

Why should such disturbances be permitted anywhere? What possible excuse is there for them? Why make a joke out of what should be a sacred occasion? Why mar what should be a happy event by forcing the bride and groom to suffer such a humiliation? Of course, it is wholly possible that there are brides and grooms who would not believe their wedding ceremony complete were they not dragged about the city in some dilapidated old car or an antiquated spring wagon. But even in such cases as theirs the noisy parading of them about the streets of a city is an in position, if not on them then on the residents who get far too little quiet without the extra noise of such demonstrations.

We have heard such exhibitions referred to as small town stuff. They must be very small town stuff, for the average village is above them.

Former Kaiser Will Not Return.

How ill the German government fears the restoration of the former kaiser to the throne was made manifest last week when Germany's law for the defense of the republic, the measure by which he was held to have been estopped from returning to the Father land was permitted to expire. The possibility of his return was considered of so little importance that the greater part of the German press did not even call attention to the law's expiration.

More than this it has developed since the law became a thing of the past, Tuesday midnight that the law was passed chiefly for political reasons to calm public feeling in enemy countries and that, as a matter of fact it could not have been enforced against the former emperor had he decided to return no matter how unwelcome he might have been. He was a German citizen and a German citizen can not be excluded from Germany save through a change of the constitution. He is still a German citizen, and under the constitution has the right to return and take up his residence in Germany.

That Wilhelm will do no is out of the question so a Berlin cable holds. As a matter of fact it is stated that he hasn't the slightest desire to return as a citizen and would not even so much as consider returning as emperor save at the expressed desire of a majority of the people of Germany. He is not one who would be willing to return and be on an equality with the other citizens of a land in which he once was supreme and from him hope that he may be recalled to the throne is said to have gone.

The former kaiser possibly in pursuit of health might take up a temporary residence in some milder climate than that of Holland, but there is nothing to indicate such a desire at present and nothing to indicate that Doorn the asylum to which he fled will not be his permanent residence till the end of his days. He may continue the forms and fictions of royalty but the substance is his no more.

During the year 1928 the birth rate dropped from the 20 7 to the thousand of the year before to 19 7 while the death rate went up from the 11 4 to the thousand of 1927 to 12 3. When the birth rate drops and the death rate goes up like that in a twelvemonth it doesn't speak overly well for the health of the nation.

Maybe so. It's a cinch that a lot of 'em come out unfinished and not wholly mentally furnished.

TOO MANY COOKS.

Milk as Food, Not as Beverage.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Not long ago I happened to be in conversation with two young mothers. They asked many questions so I asked a few. I inquired of each one how much water she gave her baby.

One of the young women seemed horrified at the idea of giving water to a baby. Why she said milk and orange juice contain all the water required. Frankly I do not agree with this young mother but do share the view of the other who said she gives her baby water several times a day.

It is too common a belief that milk in a bottle age alone. In sense it is but I wish to impress upon everybody that milk is in reality a food and one of the most valuable of all foods. Its great place in the human dietary is due to the vital food elements it contains. It must not be regarded as merely a thirst destroyer.

In certain age groups milk is almost as essential as air. At every age milk is an important food. It is a stimulants for its digestibility. It contains the building and repair materials. It possesses the required salt and vitamins.

While milk contains a large percentage of water its use does not do away with the necessity of giving water in addition. Neither does the giving of orange prune or tomato juice supply the necessary quantity of water.

In my opinion every baby should have water between its feedings. It must be pure water made so by boiling and cooling.

Without water the intestines and kidneys are not flushed properly. As a result of the failure to remove waste the baby is not sweet. There is a sour smell. The urine is high colored and irritating. It may produce scalding of the buttocks and surrounding parts.

The lack of water results in constipation. There must be an abundance of fluid to dissolve all the waste products and help to carry them away from the body.

The omission of water from the dietary places undue labor upon the kidneys. Their work is sadly interfered with if the urine is scanty and concentrated. Continual neglect may cause kidney trouble and other serious conditions.

Nobody need be afraid of pure water. It is necessary to infant health. It is vital to adult health. Try the magic of frequent drinks of water. Many a crying baby will become quiet and happy if given a drink. Even colic will disappear if a little warm water is given.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

P. S. Q—Will nasal catarrh affect the eyes and head?

A—Yes if neglected.

* * *

R. R. Q—Does smoking affect the complexion in any way?

2—Is inhaling smoke harmful?

A—No.

2—Yes if done in excess.

* * *

C. I. Q—Do you advise treatment for psoriasis?

A—Yes. In its care first attention must be given to digestion. For details send a self addressed stamped envelope and repeat your question.

* * *

V. M. Q—What causes my hair to come out in patches about the size of a half dollar?

A—You are probably troubled with a condition known as alopecia areata. For particulars send a self addressed stamped envelope and repeat your question.

* * *

A Reader. Q—What causes a bunion? Is it caused by wearing too short shoes or is the fault due to high heels?

A—Usually due to wearing short narrow shoes, causing pressure on the joint. Wearing broad toed shoes should be helpful. In some instances placing a pad of cotton between the great toe and the second will relieve the pressure and bring about relief.

* * *

P. S. Q—What will help nervousness?

A—You must try to build up the general health. Eat plenty of good nourishing food. Practice deep breathing. Exercise daily in the open air. Get regular hours of sleep. All these will build up the nervous system.

Editorial Opinion.

ANOTHER HOLE IN THE CONSTITUTION

The federal department of justice has taken W. W. Thomas and J. R. Harris from the jurisdiction of the state courts in Oklahoma. Thomason is a federal enforcement officer. Harris was one of three drys who accompanied the officer on a raid. He shot two farmers Oscar Fowery and James Harris, both dying of their wounds. They were ex service men.

After an investigation of the murders the state and federal authorities agreed as to the facts. Thomason was the only one of the four who had any authority whatever. He did not have a warrant for search on the premises the owners of which were killed. He had not pursued the three and it was said by a federal official he couldn't explain any one for such an undertaking. He was not on the premises when the murder was committed. He was on an adjacent farm. Harris had entered the Lowery place and was prowling about the chicken house when the farmers came out to see what the intruder was doing. One of them carried a shotgun. Jeff Harris shot both of them one before he had a chance to defend himself and the other while he was trying to escape.

Dr. Doran, the prohibition administrator in Washington said it was horrible. A crime against the state law has been committed by a man who did not have any police authority and who did not have any sort of a federal commission. The federal government takes its own killing agents from the state law and defends them in its own courts when they are charged with murder and bases that procedure on federal statute. It has resulted in outrage after outrage against innocent life. But this is another sort of case. The killer of these farmers was not a federal agent. He was an intruder. He was trespassing on private property. He could have been a chicken thief. The farmers could have been within their rights if they had shot him. He had no rights if he continued to prowl about the farm after he had been ordered off.

He was indicted for murder by the state. The crime was within the state jurisdiction. Two citizens had been killed by a person who had made an illegal invasion of their property. By what authority does the federal government remove him from state custody to federal? This requires a statement from Mr. Mitchell the attorney general. What influences have brought the federal government to the protection of a killer? What is the theory of this usurpation of police power against the sovereignty of the state? Is the department of justice completely rewriting the federal constitution? Has it been decided in Washington that the federal government delegates powers to the state which it may revoke? Has the state become the creature of the federal government?

Oklahoma should fight this and it should be supported by every state which has any regard for its constitutional rights.—Chicago Tribune.

Cancer and Curative Science.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON

The facts in regard to cancer research are never made accessible to the general public in a comprehensive form. Only specialists can understand the detailed and delicate investigations which are constantly going on. There are a number of different "schools" in the study of cancer—some holding to one theory others to another and so on. There is little hope for the layman, when these earnest doctors hotly disagree. But there is reason, nowadays for a wide, a worldwide, campaign of education in knowledge of cancer treatment and cure.

Strange prejudices and curious misapprehensions regarding cancer have made it a subject tabu for discussion. This may have arisen from the fact that some centuries ago cancer was believed to have its origin in blood taint arising from dissolute conduct. While it is true that there is some slight ground for the belief that one form of cancer is associated with a certain form of blood taint there is absolutely no ground for associating cancer in general with anything humiliating or morally reprehensible. There is the greatest need for a campaign in behalf of open mindedness with regard to cancer and the various forms of treatment.

Every one should know the enormous advances that have been made in the technic of treatment. Hope for a cure is no longer either baseless or extravagant. In The Conquest of Cancer Wright goes so far as to say that it is at present possible to cure seventy five per cent of cancer cases with a mortality of under five per cent. Other figures cited from the same source hold out a remarkable basis for hope. At the present time approximately ten per cent of the population of civilized countries—the United Kingdom for example—die of cancer. It is pretty generally known that of persons over thirty years of age one out of every seven dies of cancer.

It is true that no categorical answer can yet be given to the question "What is the cause of cancer?" The science of medicine has developed to a very high point of efficiency in the treatment of cancer. Cancer is known recognized diagnosed with remarkable accuracy. It is not open to question that cancer is some form of degeneration. The failure of tissues to perform their customary functions of reproduction is a sign of the beginning of cancer which most often occurs in organs which have soonest finished their work. Says Wright. The tissues from which cancer grows in their normal process of repair tend to reproduce themselves more or less exactly or if the injury is too gross they are replaced by scar tissue but when we reach the age at which their biological work is done there is a tendency to atypical reproduction in which an atypical cell continues to reproduce itself atypically and grows at the expense of the organism eating into or eroding it as it enlarges till it finally kills the host on which it preys.

There is a prevalent misapprehension that cancer is curable by medicine, serum ointment, application or injection. A tumor or ulcer may be cured by one or another of these methods. But cancer is a particular type of tumor or ulcer characterized by malignancy. Malignancy is the tendency to spread and when a malignant tumor or ulcer has a tendency to recur it is described as malignant. The classic methods of treatment are operation the use of X rays and of radium. It is not generally known that early cancer can be cured in about ninety per cent of all cases. When the neighboring lymph glands are involved only seventy per cent of the cases are subject to cure. The disease in its later stages is virtually inoperable and alleviation alone is possible. The fact to be driven home with fullest force is that from forty to fifty per cent of the cases which reach the surgeon have arrived at this incurable and inoperable stage.

The lesson for humanity which science today seeks to broadcast is that cancer if treated at the beginning is subject to cure permanent and absolute with results which compare favorably with the cure of any other known disease. Lesions in that state, usually due to ulceration or constant rubbing, cause little trouble inconvenience or pain. Cancer patients suffer little or no pain whatsoever until the incurable stage is reached. The policy now advised by the medical profession is immediate and radical treatment for all cases of doubtful malignancy. Undoubtedly this policy will result in a very small proportion of unnecessary operations but the price paid will be slight in comparison with the enormous gain. Surgery followed by radiation, tends to abolish recurrence and gives the best promise of complete cure.—Copyright 1929, International Feature Service Inc.

Out in Hollywood.

BY O. O. McINTYRE

Hollywood, July 29.—All Hollywood boulevard needs to complete the Broadway picture is a Times building. It has almost the same electrical brilliance, the same faces, and the same manners. And with the arrival of the talkies Broadwayites have descended upon it with the rush of seven year locusts on a Nebraska wheat field.

Even Memphis, the newsboy who came here with his dream of movie fame and is now snagged on a Hollywood corner crying his latest editions, says with philosophic contentment "All my life my goal was New York. Things come to those who wait long enough and New York came to me."

In New York the Hotel Astor has long been the clearing house of movie, stage and vaudeville gossip. This clearing house has now moved to the Hotel Roosevelt on Hollywood boulevard. Ninety five per cent of its patrons register from Bagdad on the Subway. All the new movie help stops there—if they know their onions.

One of the principal owners is Norma Talmadge's husband Joe Schenck. Talmadge got away to a bad start. A big stockholder is Sid Grauman that astute little ex newsboy showman with a wild mop of bushy hair. Grauman is the Ziegfeld of the West Coast movie houses.

He sensed the Broadway invasion when the films began to stutter. He applied showmanship to hotel-keeping. Every theatrical personage from the lowliest ham to the star was given a night in the grill of the Roosevelt. He knew the Broadway vanity and the hotel prospered.

The headquarters of what was once New York's Tin Pan alley is now the lobby of the same hotel. Those alert young men of bingo bango land are here en masse. The movie theme song has made Hollywood the popular music El Dorado. A hit song in Hollywood means financial independence.

And those White Way wits who used bright utilities on befoozled night club playouts are now cashing in on their talents. A good gag means almost as high a salary whatever you think up. The lad who can put over the fast ones is knee deep in clover.

* * *

It is interesting to watch the Broadway actor expand under the climatic and scenic novelty of his semi tropical environment. Used to breakfasting in the middle of the afternoon he has finished a half day's work by noon. He is in bed by 10 o'clock most of the time and his outdoor life has given him a bronze tinge. There's a Ripley believe it or not—an actor with a tan. He is learning to play tennis, golf and bikes, give the mountain trails and snares a few frowns. He is changed in every way but one. He talks as big and loud as ever.

* * *

This morning in my hotel room I was this way and that way—as who is not?—watching a window washer on the sill of the ninth floor window across the way. It seemed to me he was risking his neck unnecessarily by dancing about and waving at people below. Finally he began juggling two sponges and deftly missed his step and plunged downward with a sickening rush. My throat went dry and the horizon black. I peered cautiously into the street. The scandal had been a gag in a net and a half dozen movie cameras were clicking merrily.

* * *

The brightness of Hollywood is dimmed by the pathetic army of extras. They are up early for the trek to studio casting agencies to hear the monotonous "Sorry nothing today." Then they return to laze through the day on the boulevard benches and other loafing places. As an annual visitor to years I recognize the same faces. The futility of it all gives them the set expression of a Benda mask. In the studio lots they are considered incurable. They know success is impossible yet refuse to give up.

* * *

No idol is so idolized as the movie idol in Hollywood. When the rest of the world glances at their clay feet, they can be assured Hollywood will never forget. It is a paradise for "Those Who Never Come Back."

* * *

The big hour in Hollywood is between 6 and 7 in the evening when everybody dresses and puts on the lug. They stroll sitting down.

* * *

A German film star offered a big contract in the talkies refuses to learn English. And why should he? He sees most of the American movie actors getting along nicely without it. So why be ridic?—Copyright 1929, by the McNaught Syndicate Inc.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Life is pretty easy now in comparison with what it used to be. When Galileo told the people the sun did not move around the earth but the earth moved around the sun they locked him up. They thought he was crazy or worse. Now if somebody says the earth is flat or there is no such thing as evolution or makes some other wild statement we do not lock him up, we just let him talk. Of course there is now and then even in the modern days, an exception. If a man lives in Tennessee he can't say anything he pleases—at least if he is a school teacher. The legislature there decides what can be taught. Fortunately although legislatures can decide what will be taught they can not decide what is truth.

* * *

It has been said there is no such thing as the attainment of happiness. It is true that life is full of discouragements and disappointments and that one's dreams and ambitions are not always realized. But the fact remains that there is a fair degree of happiness to be attained, and it can be had in quite simple fashion. It comes to the man who has no fear, who is not trying to make an impression on anybody, who does as he pleases without trespassing on the rights of others who is not trying to save the soul of anybody else, who is not trying to force his opinion on anybody or trying to regulate somebody else's life. It comes to a man who has no politics to play no axes to grind nothing to conceal and who is conscious that he knows how to make a living.

* * *

Half the people who believe they are on the way to remake and reform the world think they have discovered an entirely new idea. They believe they are radical pioneers discoverers. Familiarity with books with the lives and thoughts of great men of the past will convince us there is little new being said by moderns. From the Golden rule of Confucius years before the Christian era, to Ralph Waldo Emerson of the middle of the last century nearly everything worth while in philosophy morals, and ethics has been said. Wrote Emerson "We are to revise the whole of our social structure the state the school religion, marriage trade science." And one of Emerson's biographers writes of him "The strongest influences in his development were the liberating philosophy of Coleridge, the mystical visions of Swedenborg the intimate poetry of Wordsworth and the stimulating essays of Carlyle."

The sources of Emerson's inspiration are available to us all—if we have any time left after golf radio and the picture shows.

Look about and see signs of amazing progress in mechanical ingenuity but not much progress in the deep values of the human mind.

Automatic gas heating

gives all these . and more

CONVENIENCE, cleanliness, health, comfort, economy—all are outstanding advantages of automatic gas heating.

You light your fire in the fall and turn it off in the spring. All winter long the home is kept at a healthful, uniform temperature . . . without the least attention save the occasional regulating of the thermostat.

The dirt-making fuel bin and ash pile in the basement are eliminated. The basement can be converted into a recreation room, or a play-room for the children. The entire home stays clean longer. Redecorating and house cleaning are less frequent. Cleaning expenses are greatly reduced.

And scores of users tell us that this better way to heat is actually cheaper. Let us submit an estimate of operating cost.

Love's Awakening

The Heart Story of a Woman's Lasting Affections

BY ADELE GARRISON

Harry's Evident Excitement Has Madge and Lillian "All Het Up"

THE arrow which had whizzed between Princess Olina and me while we were upon the hotel roof was fraught with much significance to Harry Underwood. This we conjectured when he came from his room a minute or two after I handed the thing over to him and hurried out of the door. But he found time to say a word of commendation in passing which much gratified me.

"Glad you kept your wits about you, Lady Fair. Your giving those surroundings the quick once over sure narrowed down the possibilities I have to go over. Good work."

Lillian knew little more than I. She called me into her room after Harry had gone and pushed a chair toward me with a wry smile.

"Give me the data on the arrow stuff," she said. "I haven't seen Harry so het up since the rat ate the malt. He said you'd tell me about it, and he didn't take time to spill a single bean—just opened the piece of twisted paper under the head of the thing, read it and bolted."

"Did he tell you that no one was to go to the roof until he found out where the arrow came from?" I asked.

"No. That means he thinks there's trouble somewhere."

"It also means," I said, rising, "that I must see that everybody here has that message at once."

"By 'everybody' I suppose you mean the 'international quartet,'" Lillian said, "for Dicky and Phil are at their offices."

"And I have no doubt Olina has told the others, for she heard Harry give me the prohibition, but I must make sure."

"All right, Casabianca," she grinned. "But come back here, pronto."

"I shan't be gone a minute," I promised, and kept my word when I found Olina relating the story and Mr. Underwood's prohibition to a rapt audience of three—Mary, Noel and Georges. Lillian appeared equally interested when I returned and told her of the incident. It was an interest which deepened into concern, however, when she realized from my account that the arrow must have come from somewhere on the roof of the hotel.

"That narrows down the search, of course," she said, "but it sure spells trouble. Harry thought he had everything bottled up, but if some of these devils have managed to get to the roof without being detected, it's bad medicine."

"You think the paper really was a message from those men?" I said.

Judging from the way Harry shot out of here it was eight or nine of 'em," she retorted. "But why borrow trouble? We'll know all about it when Harry gets back, but that won't be for 'quite some little time,' as Mrs. Tiver says. Sit still and dish me anything you know. Honest to Agnes, I know why women used to hang over the back fences half the time gossiping with their neighbors. If I'm penned in here much longer I shall call in Purnell and ask him to tell me what's doing around the hotel."

"I wouldn't attempt to compete with Purnell's probable fund of information," I said with a smile at the remembrance of the affable, grandiose little darkey who had aided me so signally at my announcement dinner. "But I can tell you something which will intrigue your interest, I fancy."

"Then tell it quickly before I shake it out of you," she threatened, and I told her forthwith of Olina's demand for the newspapers and her discovery of the personal from her mother, the Queen of Transvania.

"Olga isn't called the 'Royal Matchmaker' for nothing," was her comment when I had finished. "When Prince Georges was the second from the throne, and both the old king and the next in line were in robust health, Olga couldn't see him. But with the heir dead and the old king dying, she patently will make a play for Georges. If she had another unmarried daughter she probably wouldn't bother about Olina. I can imagine Olga forgiving the girl, but not banking on her as a candidate for a throne sharing stunt—she's great on the dignity thing, Olga is. But she's got her a gen-oo-ine kink for every other daughter—three of 'em—and Olina's the only bet she has left. She'll not give up Georges without a struggle, but, oh boy, what wouldn't I give to have her here now, and see our little Mary making Georges turn handsprings."

"Do you share Harry's belief that she can go on making him turn handsprings indefinitely if she chooses?" I asked.

"No, I don't," she returned promptly. "One or two more jolts such as Mary handed Georges yesterday and the lad's subconscious yen for Olina will begin to come out in the open, as he reflects upon Mary's patent unfitness to share his exalted sphere. What the poor fish will never see, possessing the usual masculine ob tuseness and conceit, is that if Mary loved him she could act a regal role as if to the manner born. There's the telephone. 'Scuse, please."

She took the receiver from the hook and her eyes flashed to mine, startled.

"Yes, Harry," she said breathlessly.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

YESTERDAY was Sunday. I was thinking yesterday after I had let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth, and done my work, and fed my face, and my ant was scrubbing it, that dogs have a pretty easy time of it. I don't know if they have ants or not, but if they do their ants don't care whether they are clean or dirty. That is the kind of a ant to have.

Yesterday was the first Sunday since the Sunday school super found that thing in his pocket where his handkerchief used to be, and we were all wondering what he would do to Feeble; and most of the bunch thought Feeble wouldn't show up, but they don't know Feeble as well as I do.

We got our cows out and had our swim and got to Sunday school before it opened, and Feeble and Younise and Maggie were there, and just before the door opened the super came along with our teacher and he certainly did look haughty, and he was going to sail right up the stoop when Feeble called to him, and he stopped and looked us all over very severely and then he said to her: "Did you wish to apologize for something?" And she said: "Why, no, of course not. I wanted to ast you if you had a handkerchief you could loand me for a moment?"

We all gave him a hoot. We couldn't help it. And he and the teacher went inside. The teacher was very cross with us, and she almost burnt Nibs up for not having his Golden Text by heart. My father thought maybe the super would sue Feeble's father for damages, but her father said he would dare him to hold that evidence up before a jury and ast them to give him anything but the laugh. My father says her father has got his religion in his wife's name.

Today was Monday and it is always our wash day. I should think my mother would do her washing on Saturday so as to have everything clean for Sunday. It is funny that my ant who likes to wash boys don't like to wash clothes.

Hopper says if the doctor is going to do anything to him he isn't going to let him do it till school starts. And be is right. There is not any sense in being sick abed in vacation time.

When we got our cows out today we went over to Mud Turkle pond for a swim and I saw something move on a stump and there was the turtle the super had out on. I guess after they got it home from his pants they put it back on the stump and forgot it. I said it was mine and Nibs said it was his, so I told the Last Rat of Tripe he could have it. And when Nibs was going to take it away from him he bounced it off of Nibs' head and shook out. A turtle is not any good on I would of bet it would.

"White Fire"

An Absorbing New Emotional Serial of Love and Life on the Stage

BY LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

THIRTY-EIGHT

"SO do I, even if it is gambling with a valuable property. On the other hand, if Challis holds her present form, she'll come through under any handicap—almost. What," Arlington abruptly demanded, "did you think of your second-best protegee tonight?"

"Mona?" Tabor thinly smiled, and demurred. "Well * * * I presume it was Mona you had in mind during dinner when you said one other member of the cast was worrying you."

"It was," Arlington snapped—"It was. I'm not any more. Her part's not so heavy we can't stick another bit of fluff in to sub for her with a few days' rehearsing."

"It seems too bad—"

"It is too bad; but she's asking for it. It's a pity, because the imp's got ability, any amount of it; if she'd give herself half a chance and handle like a wise virgin, she'd shape up as good a soubrette as any since Judic—maybe. But the one thing that induced me to bet money on her, that antic performance she gave last spring is going to spell her ruination unless she's willing to learn from the lesson we've got to give her. You saw how she carried on tonight—didn't extend herself, at that—saving up, of course to run away with the works again, the first night on Broadway. The only catch in that is, the young woman won't find herself in the cast.

"You don't think perhaps a good talking to——"

"She's had it already, and more than one—Billy Cole, Brown, Stevens—"

"I mean, from you".

"My poor, young friend!" the producer cried in reproach—"do credit me with having seen enough of life to know breath spent reasoning with a jealous woman is breath wasted."

"'Jealous'!"

"Oh, well, envious, if I must be a purist—envious of Jenny Challis. Mona 'knew her when'; now, at a time when she's fancying herself heaps, all of a sudden she sees Jenny forging ahead up a grade too steep for herself ever to hope to make. That's what makes the show business one mad whirl of excitement and everything—the large order of human nature that enters into it."

From the stage door somebody respectfully called: "Mr. Arlington? Curtain's going up."

Stationed well back in the shadows of the wings, Tabor watched from an angle novel to him, through a door that stood open upon the third-act set, a Jennifer in whom self-confidence had been made secure play to a superb finish a last act superbly written—not the pottering and anticlimatic fourth act of the playhouse average, but one whose drama flowed full-tide to its curtain. That came down to applause which crashed, in the echoing cavern of the proscenium, like sharp thunder. Jennifer, running off, pulled up so close to Tabor that her sleeve, brushed his, and stood for an uncertain instant poised, starry-eyed and lightly panting, till the house out front called her imperatively back—and never knew that he was near. As she darted on again to bow her thanks from the lighted set, Tabor felt a shoulder gently tapped, and saw Arlington beckoning. He followed to a dressing-room door, which his guide threw open without ceremony. "Wait here," he said with an understanding smile—"she won't be long"—and went away.

The room was deserted, even the maid, whose duty it was to keep it clear of its vast disarray having stolen off to the wings to witness Jennifer's first decisive conquest. Tabor, looking for a chair, found none that was not already occupied by garments which he felt hardly free to disturb. The dressing-table displayed a wild raffle of cream pots, toilet things, tortured tubes of paint and ointments, the opened box of roses which Tabor had sent up from New York, and other roses, a great burning mass of them, in a vase. There was not so much as an unused hook for a man to hang his hat on. He felt too much a stranger in an environment whose welcome, when it woke up to realize his intrusion, was not to be predicted with any confidence. The air seemed overheated and heady with the perfume of roses added to a hash of artificial scents. A troubled gaze covered the flowers in the vase. Tabor's were not mean, but these, which some one else must have sent, shamed his, and had been chosen to stand in the place of honor, where they must be always under her eyes with their mute reminder—of what? The sense of spiritual insecurity and isolation of those days which had been dispelled for a few hours tonight returned with strength redoubled. He keenly felt how precarious and slight was the place he filled in the life of this woman whose intimate belongings were scattered all about him, whom he so forlornly loved.

The corridors of the dressing-room were lively with voices and scampering feet. He didn't hear Jennifer approach, but all at once knew that she was in the doorway, and turned to her his shy smile. In the same breath she flung in, unceremoniously slamming the door in the faces of half a dozen followers, and threw to him both hands.

"Tabby!" she cried, and again, with the same breathless catch: "Tabby!"

To know the radiance of her countenance for him was to feel doubts lift like mists that smoke away in the smile of a new sun.

But it were neither fair to her nor safe for him to presume too far on that: the girl was merely carried a bit out of herself, and quite pardonably. Tabor bent his lips to hands that clung to him.

"You're really glad to see me, Jenny?"

"Glad! I'm so happy, Tabby, I just can't believe it"—she gave a sobbing laugh—"so happy I'm crying, and that hurts—when this damn stuff gets wet it runs into your eyes and smarts like fun." A reckless sweep cleared one chair. "Sit down, Tabby dear, and don't mind me for a minute. I'm all right, only too much a baby."

She settled before the mirror to mop away the smears of mascara that ran from heavily headed lashes.

"To me," the man protested with the simplicity of entire conviction, "you were nothing short of magnificent."

"Oh!" Jennifer sighed, and put out a hand to rest over those which Tabor had clasped upon a knee, and smiled, and rapidly winked, and wagged her head. "Don't make me cloud up and drizzle again, please. I can't stand it."

"And even if my opinion is biased and nonprofessional and so valueless—"

"It's all I care about."

"Even to the exclusion of Mr. Arlington's?"

"Tabby! do you know him?"

He had been on the qui vive for that question, even had paved the way for it with his low cunning. Now that it fell, the most critical analysis of which he was capable read it altogether artless. Mona, then, had been true to her word, had not yet betrayed him.

"I made it my business to scrape acquaintance," Tabor serenely equivocated. "With your career apparently so much a matter of his good will—it seemed the least I could do, to try to make a place for myself as a friend at court."

"Happily enough, as tonight has proved, you stand in no need of any such influence. Arlington is more than pleased—almost as thunderstruck as I am, I shouldn't wonder."

"I'm glad," Jennifer soberly said. "To do a bit better than your best hopes for me—that's the only way I know of to repay you."

"To repay me!" he remonstrated uneasily pricked by his black conscience.

"For giving me faith in myself, that time I hadn't any. You'll never know all you did for me with the lectures you used to read me, Tabby; and then your letters—it was funny the way they used to turn up and buck me unfailingly when I was blue and lonesome and ready to chuck in my hand. Don't tell me anything more about Arlington or anybody; I just want to make friends with you all over again. It's been such a long time * * *" Tabor was constrained to submit to a captious inspection. "How well you do look! and years younger * * *"

"Oh, come now!"

"I mean it; you do, really. As if you'd been up to mischief and it had done you no end of good. Tell me, Tabby"—Jennifer's regard took on a whimsical color, as much as to say that the playfulness of the question to come was open to question—"honest Injun!—you didn't go and fall in love with somebody while you were over there?"

"No fear. There comes to every man a time of life when he no longer cares to make himself ridiculous."

"That's all right, then. Only, you're not to talk such rot." The girl interrupted herself to scowl at the door: a persistent hand was knocking. "Why can't they leave me alone? And I've only just found you—after all these years!"

Two Lives Are Claimed In Week-End Auto Accidents

Charles Petty, Farmer of Hardin County, Is Victim of Kenton Crossing Crash

Dies Instantly After Car Hits Moving Train; Brother-in-Law in Hospital Seriously Injured; Were Returning to Home Near Dola

KENTON, July 29—Charles Petty, 35, farmer of near Dola, was killed almost instantly and Out Curl, 22, a brother-in-law, was seriously injured when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into the side of a moving southbound Big Four freight train at the Detroit st. grade crossing and was demolished shortly after midnight Saturday.

Petty died as he was being taken into McKitrick hospital. His major injuries included a compound fracture of the skull, a crushed and fractured left forearm and cuts and bruises about the body.

Injuries received by the younger man included a dislocated and possible fractured hip, a deep cut over his eye and cuts and bruises about the head and body. He is in McKitrick hospital.

The tragedy occurred as the two men were returning to their home at 12:10 o'clock Sunday morning from Kenton where they had spent the evening. From information gathered by Coroner Johnson, the two men were believed to have been engaged in conversation and failed to notice the train across the crossing until too late to avoid running into it.

Indications were that Petty, driving the car, made an attempt to swerve the car just before the crash. The two men were hurled from the wrecked machine.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of another brother-in-law, Elwood Curl, residing a mile east of Harrod. Burial will be in the Harrod cemetery.

Three Accidents at Mt. Victory

MT. VICTORY, July 29—Five persons escaped injury here Saturday in a series of three automobile accidents.

Lewis Miller, 72, farmer of east of here, had a narrow escape when the car which he was driving crashed into a bridge abutment dropping into Wildcat creek. The car was badly wrecked but the occupant escaped. The water in the creek was low.

An unknown Chicago man was given medical treatment at Kenton after sustaining minor cuts and bruises when his car hit a telephone pole on Main st. here. The accident occurred when a tire blew out.

Homer Stewart, south of here, escaped when his car collided with a machine driven by a government ordnance inspector of Ft. Hayes, Columbus. Both cars were damaged.

FIELD IS INSPECTED FOR AIRPLANE SHOW

Three Planes To Give Demonstration at Bucyrus on Aug. 10

BUCYRUS, July 29—G. H. McClelland, an official of the Curtiss Flying Service, in company with C. H. Hailes, president of the Chamber of Commerce, made an inspection of the large tract of land on the Mrs Joe Michaels farm at the west corporation line of the city, where the two day aerial safety demonstration by the Curtiss Flying Service of Cleveland will be held Aug. 10 and 11.

According to present plans the Cleveland service company will send three cabin planes here for the purpose of demonstrating the safety and reliability of modern airplanes and for the purpose of stimulating air-mindedness in the city.

SAVED FROM DROWNING

BUCYRUS July 29—Herbert Harer, New Washington, was saved from possible death by drowning Saturday, when he was rendered unconscious when he and a companion dashed their heads together while diving at the Seccalum park pool. After about 10 minutes diving the body of Harer was brought to the surface by several youths swimming in the pool and artificial resuscitation was administered by Ralph Jolly and Wilbur Kennedy.

47 BUSHELS

That's Hardin County Farmer's Wheat Yield Per Acre.

KENTON, July 29—One of the largest wheat yields reported in Hardin county this season, is that threshed on the farm of Jonathan Oates and sons of four and a half miles north of Kenton.

Eight acres yielded an average of 47 bushel to the acre. Out of the total acreage two acres of wheat was down and much of the grain could not be harvested.

Today's program includes concerts by the Elms Tamburitza Serenaders and an address by Julia B. Arnold, traveler and lecturer.

JURY DISMISSED IN DAMAGE ACTION

Fails To Agree After Deliberating Seven Hours at Bucyrus

BUCYRUS, July 29—After deliberating over seven hours, the jury was dismissed when they failed to arrive at a verdict in the $10,000 damage suit of Frank McNulty against Robert and Ralph Wolcutt, arising out of an argument over pigs, held on the McNulty farm two years ago. The case opened Thursday morning. Saturday night at 10:30 o'clock the jury was dismissed by Judge W. Wright. Over 40 witnesses were called upon to testify in the trial.

FAIL TO FIND BODY OF MISSING FARMER

Grand Jury Excavators Dig Up Basement of Kenton Restaurant

KENTON, July 29—Rumors that the body of a man had been buried in the basement of an uptown restaurant were dispelled when excavation of the cellar failed to reveal traces of any human bones.

The excavation work was ordered by a Hardin county grand jury acting upon rumors that a Kenton man during an illness, had confessed that a man had met with foul play and was then buried in the basement. Earlier probe by officials failed to reveal any evidence to substantiate the rumors.

Officials today renewed activities in an effort to learn the whereabouts of Tom Pisel, onion farmer, whose body, rumor had it, was the one buried. Pisel mysteriously disappeared two years ago and at the time had considerable money on him.

80 MEMBERS OF 4-H CLUB TO GO TO CAMP

Crawford County Organizations to Meet at Camp Sandusky Tuesday

BUCYRUS, July 29—Between 75 and 80 members of the Crawford county 4-H clubs are making preparations today to enter the club camp opening tomorrow at Camp Sandusky, situated about two miles east of McCutchenville along the bank of the Sandusky river.

Camp will open with the noon meal tomorrow and will close with the entire 4-H club membership invited.

County Farm Agent J. E. Whonsetller stated today that complete supervision has been arranged for each department of the camp which will include handiwork classes during the morning hours from both boys and girls, appreciation work, games and contests, swimming and boating in the afternoon and vesper services in the evening.

In addition to the local club leaders, who will be in attendance at the annual club encampment, it is expected that the assistance of several state leaders including Mr. and Mrs. D S Myer, Virgil Argo, Bruce Tom and Virgil Overholt of Ohio State University will be present to assist with the work. James Holl of Galion will give instructions in swimming and life saving.

Will Ask Council To Remedy Sewer System

BUCYRUS, July 29—According to an announcement by Mayor Arthur Schutter, an appeal will be placed before the city council at the next regular meeting, with a recommendation that the body take steps at once to remedy the present sewage system in parts of the city most affected by heavy rains, where sewers are inadequate to carry off the water, resulting in many cellars being flooded. Damage estimated at between $1,500 and $2,000 was caused in the stationary store room at the W A. Riddell Co. during Friday's heavy rains.

ON COMMITTEE

MT. GILEAD, July 29—W. G Rohr, publisher of the Union Register at Mt. Gilead and C. B Conoway, publisher of the Morrow county Independent at Cardington have been chosen as two of the group of 60 newspaper men and women of Ohio to act as judges to select characters for the journalism hall of fame for this year.

Three Kenton Burglaries Committed Early Sunday Are Probed by Officials

Trio of Suspects in Custody After Robbery at Ford Agency, Candy Store and Second-Hand Store; Charges Expected Today

KENTON, July 29—Kenton and Hardin county officials today are endeavoring to solve three burglaries which occurred in Kenton early Sunday morning, and have placed three suspects in custody for questioning. Others were to be taken today and charges will in all probability be preferred before nightfall.

More than $300 in checks and currency was secured from the Moser & Short Ford agency safe after robbers had knocked off the combination with a sledge hammer and then pried open the doors with crowbars. In gaining entrance to the building, the robbers scaled a low shed adjoining the salesroom and broke in a small window.

A second window was shattered to gain entrance to the office where the safe was located. Fingerprint experts from Findlay photographed prints left on tools used in opening the safe. The agency rooms are located a block off the public square.

Merchandise Taken

Candy, cigarets, tobacco and other merchandise were secured by robbers who looted the Waaland Candy Co store at Main and Espy sts after breaking in a rear door. The third place robbed was the Charles Young Second Hand store on Columbus st., where watches and other goods were taken.

Two of the suspects in custody are being questioned in conection with the Waaland robbery while the third is held in connection with agency job. Belief was expressed by officials that the robbers who entered the candy company store also broke into the second hand store.

Lookout an Job

While robbers were prying open and mutilating the safe doors in opening them, a lookout was maintained at a large display window in the office and facing the street. Finger prints on the glass indicated the lookout had leaned against the window, officials said

Only the cash drawers in the safe had been removed. Records and other papers were left untouched. In vestigating the robberies are Police Chief O. D Sheldon, Sheriff Morton Ansley and his deputy, Wilbur Mitchell.

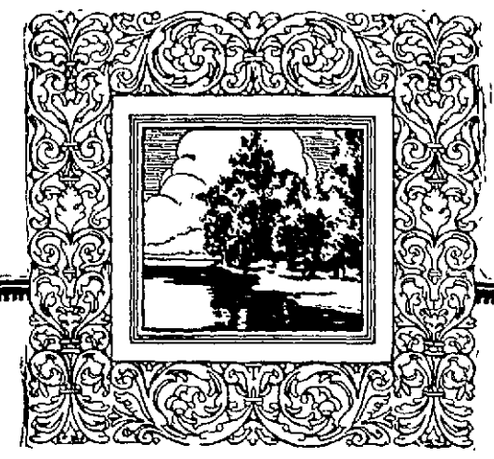
Mrs Thoman was born Aug 19, 1872 in Toledo. She was married to Ernest Thoman of this city in 1891 and since that time had been a resident of Galion.

Surviving are her husband and six children, John Thoman, of Mansfield; Arthur Thoman, of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mrs. A. E. Crawford, Mrs. Charles Carmel, of Galion; Mrs. Newton Willard, of Mansfield, and Jane Thoman, at home

Mrs. Eugene Rader, of this city, is a sister who survives

1930 Budget for Bucyrus Cut $3,157; Ask $146,500

BUCYRUS, July 29—According to estimates contained in this year's budget as presented to the finance committee of the city council by City Auditor Constance Keller, and on which hearing will be held at the council chamber Aug. 6, it will require $146,500 to operate the city of Bucyrus during the fiscal year beginning Jan. 1, 1930, or just $3,157.50 less than this year.



OUR funeral service extends beyond the bounds of our city's borders. Families living in nearby towns, rural districts and far into the country can easily obtain the superior attention and advantages we give. Our motorized equipment and other modern facilities for prompt, efficient funeral service enable us to respond to any call anywhere. And the same high degree of satisfaction and thoroughness given right here in our locality is likewise furnished distant funerals, in every respect and detail, at no additional charge.

McCormick-Deering Manure Spreader

Shreds and Spreads as it should be done.

A New Model with an Old Name

Here it is—the new McCormick-Deering built from the ground up to meet the requirements of present-day agriculture and to serve efficiently through the years to come.

The new McCormick-Deering spreader is not a built over model, but a distinctly new type, a machine that embodies the highest principles of design, good workmanship and manufacturing skill.

For three years this new product has undergone rigid field and laboratory tests under the direct supervision of Harvester engineers. During the past eighteen months several hundred of these spreaders have been in constant use in all sections of the country. Weekly reports were made on their operating performance and in every instance the reports have been favorable.

To the man who owns one, the McCormick-Deering spreader is a source of satisfaction. His spreading costs are reduced because the durability of the machine minimizes upkeep and extends the investment over years of satisfactory service.

A few moments spent with the dealer in learning more about this new product may assist you in solving the important problem of increasing soil fertility and crop yields.

EAGLES DEFEAT KENTON REDS, 3 TO 0

ROBBINS DRIVES OUT HOMER AND DOUBLE IN DEBUT AS EAGLE

Sep Good Turns in Superb Mound Performance Against Kenton

BY BOB ELLIOTT

FIDO ROBBINS former Marion Industrial league baseball player of parts played his first game with the Marion Eagles yesterday afternoon at Lincoln park and virtually staked the locals to a 3 to 0 victory over the Kenton Reds although the superb pitching performance turned in by Sep Good provided the means by which the Reds failed to dent the rubber The veteran southpaw gave the visitors just four hits, one an infield scratch struck out five and passed not a man

It was Sep's best performance of the year and the Reds were helpless before his change of pace The closest they ever came to scoring was in the sixth when Brennan who had reached first on a fielder's choice went to third on Shields' infield hit to Shoup Brennan tried to score when Conroy momentarily fumbled the ball at first but was thrown out on a close play at the plate, Conroy to Toomire Brennan was the only Red to see third base and Maine was the only other to get as far as second

No Errors

The fielding on both teams was nothing short of sensational, neither team making an error and both giving their hurlers airtight support at all times All three of the Marion runs were earned off Russell Malins who hurled the first four and one third innings for the Reds Ray Ferner held the Eagles well in check the rest of the game

The Eagles presented a patched up line up with Yonikus on second base and McCann in left field but it clicked perfectly at all times Conroy hand ed 13 chances at first base and McCann made four nice catches in left field The fielding feature of the game was Shoup's one handed stab of Ray Pine's hard liner in the third frame. The ball had 'hit' ticketed all over it on that wallop but Mr Shoup just naturally stuck out his gloved hand and speared that old apple Pine made a nice play in the third when he raced back of second base to make a near impossible stop and throw of a vicious grounder.

Gets Homer

Robbins opened the scoring in the third when he connected with one of Malins fast ones and drove it high over the left field fence near the foul line Yonikus the second batter of the inning walked and stole second as McCann was striking at a third strike He went to third when Joe Conroy whistled a line shade over the third sack

Robbins also scored the locals final run in the fifth when he doubled over Moses' head in deep center, went to third as Brennan was throwing out Yonikus and scored when McCann drilled a line single to center field McCann wasted a chance for another tally when he tried to make third on Conroy's second single to the center garden Moses perfect throw had him nailed at the hot corner although several of the local fans objected rather strongly

Good got the only other hit off Ferner when he slug'ed to left in the sixth The Eagles had men on second and third thus inning with two gone

Davis Cup Again In Sight For America As Youngsters Triumph

SPORT STUFF

BY BOB ELLIOTT

TWENTY ONE games on this week's recreation schedule and how interesting none of those games are going to be Seven games or on tonight's schedule with three leagues having games scheduled Headlining the Monday list of games of course is the double header between the Marion and Upper Sandusky Masons at Garfield Park This is the first twin bill of the season and is expected to draw quite a crowd of local fans

Featuring the Second Church league games are the Asbury Christian game at Shovel No 1 and the Forest Lawn Lutheran clash at Lincoln Park Both games will have direct bearing on the championship of the league as the Asbury nine and Lutherans are tied for the lead

One First church loop game is scheduled that between the Baptist and Epworth No 1 team at Fairfield It should result in a rather easy victory for the Methodists despite the fine showing made by the Baptists so far this season

• • •

Of course we'll have to mention the Benefit game between the Kappas and Shovel A A Wednesday at Lincoln Park All the proceeds of this game will go towards sending some girls to the Y M C A camp at Hepburn These two teams have not yet been able to meet each other due to inclement weather and the game Wednesday will give Marion fans a chance to determine which one, if either one has a chance to overtake the Eagles and win the championship of the Commercial league The largest crowd of the season is expected at this game the admission to which will be one thin dime Ralph Clark and Roscoe Bank will probably do the hurling

• • •

THERE'S something funny when a game such as was put on yesterday at Lincoln Park between the Eagles and Kenton Reds drew only the small crowd that it did The local team has been playing good ball all year and includes victories over some fast teams in its record this season

Last year Marion fans clamored for more home talent They didn't want so many foreign players being brought in, this might throw the air of commercialism on the game

So this year seven out of the ten players are from Marion with Sep Good, the pitcher coming from Fremont and Francis Bacon and Yonikus from Mt Gilead and Bucyrus Maybe now the Marion fans want more players from out of town as the local boys don't play quite fast enough game for the fans

The game yesterday was as fast a contest as could be wished for between two semi pro teams The Reds had been undefeated so far this year and the Eagles had won three in a row from fairly fast competition Yet the Kenton fans outnumbered the Marion fans at the game As we said Roscoe, Something Wrong

• • •

In the right corner gentleman at a batting average of 600 we have the Erie Roundhouse and in the other corner we have the Fairfield Engineers with a pitching average of some 800 All these two teams are waiting for is the ball for their all important Industrial league clash at Garfield Park next Thursday evening Fans are becoming goggle eyed over the unlimited prospects that the game presents and a mammoth crowd will be present when the two teams tangle

The Engineers are confident that they will avenge the first round defeat given them by the railroaders and the latter is just as confident of plastering another defeat on the league leaders

FRENCH RETAIN CUP ANOTHER YEAR WHEN COCHET BEATS LOTT

Brilliant Play of Van Ryn and Allison Insures Win for America Soon

BY DAVIS J WALSH
I N S Sports Editor

NEW YORK July 29—France, the champion nation of all the world of lawn tennis is tottering on its throne today the leader for another year perhaps two as the result of its victory yesterday in the Davis Cup challenge round by three matches to two As I see it the abiding difference between the contending teams was that America used two men to win one match whereas France needed only one man Hunt, Cochet, to win two

Cochet hailed everywhere as the greatest of his day alone stood between America and a reclamation of the cup One man only beat the best we had he his victories in the singles over Bill Tilden and George Lott but the one man who won twice cannot last indefinitely while the two Americans who won once sure to keep on winning until the years grow weary of the matter

Sure Winners

Ultimately as water wear its hole in stone this pair Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn must wear down France's resistance and prove the words that will pry the trophy from its moorings They have assured us of at least one point in every Davis Cup round to be played during the next five years They have pointed the way to the American Davis Cup committee with their victories at Wimbledon and in the challenge round against Bootra and Cochet and, from now on the committee can have no recourse but to accept the talisman They have established the fact that America soon is to win and that it is the young men of the country who will do it They have restored in a matter of a few hours a semblance of the prestige we dissipated over a period of years

Just a couple of brash kids whose previous acquaintance with Davis Cup play was gained from the stands they beat the best team France could muster in straight sets and did it as only champions can At the age of 23 or less they indubitably are the greatest double pair the world over to lay and the beauty of the situation is that they must become greater as the years concede them stability and experience And so we know now that the Davis Cup is coming back to America again Allison and Van Ryn are our insurance against future defeat

LOOKS LIKE DETROIT FOR TITULAR SCRAP

Garden Emissary Reported To Favor Ford City for Heavy Battle

CHICAGO July 29—With mid night as the deadline, Frank Bruen vice president of Madison Square Garden, today lingered with an ear cocked for a possible acceptance speech from civic leaders to take over the Max Schmeling Jack Sharkey fight booned in New York

At midnight he will return to New York to tell the Garden directors his impression as to whether Chicago or Detroit is the more enthusiastic in its response to the invitation

Bruen said he was certain he would hear today from Paddy Harmon, leading fight promoter who is understood to believe the match would pack one of the baseball parks here in September

Chicagoans however, were reported to be apathetic as compared with Detroiters and it appeared likely that the Garden emissary would recommend Detroit as the site

Yanks Win 5 Straight But Fail To Gain on Mackmen

BY LES CONKLIN

NEW YORK July 29 — The New York Yankees and the Pittsburgh Pirates, running in second place down the back stretch of the major league pennant races are playing the same brand of ball each outfit having won 58 games and lost 33 for a percentage of 637 But while this pace has kept the Pirates within 2 1 2 games of the Cubs, the Yankees have the misfortune to be in the same league with a club that has won 70 games with two more months of play remaining

Just how tough is the task of the Yankees, is illustrated by the fact that they have won their last five games but failed to gain on the Athletics, who copped six out of seven last week The Pirates took four out of seven but lost valuable ground to the Cubs, who followed up a successful eastern trip by winning seven straight on their own lot

Although 10 full games and a hundred points behind the Mackmen the Yanks still have a chance if Huggins can bring his right handed twirlers into shape Practically all of the victories chalked up by the champions in the last month have been scored by their southpaws

Henry Johnson was knocked out by the Browns yesterday but old Tom Zachary, turning in his sixth straight win, saved the game with the aid of some heavy stickwork by Ruth and Gehrig The Buster drove in four runs with a double, a triple and his 25th homer, while the Babe's 24th round tripper coming in the twelfth inning was the coup de grace that gave the Bugmen a 7 to-6 decision.

A six run rally in the third inning featured by Stephenson's homer, enabled Guy Bush of the Cubs to breeze along to a 7 to 2 triumph over the Phillies, his fourteenth victory of the season

With John McGraw back on the job and plying the lash the Giants broke loose with a rash of 19 base hits, knocked Grover Alexander and swamped the Cardinals, 10 to 5 Mel Ott clouted his 25th homer.

Clark and Vance, Brooklyn's mound aces, dropped two close ones to the rejuvenated Reds, 4 to 3 and 7 to 3

Kyle Graham, formerly with the Boston Braves pitched Detroit to a 5 to 3 win over the Red Sox

Cleveland put the bee on the Senators for the third game in succession 9 to 6 Shoffner, rookie from Jersey City hurled the last six innings and received credit for the victory.

JUST KIDS — BY AD CARTER

WHY DID JOE TELL YOU?
HE SAID THAT IN ITALY THEY GOT A MOUNT VESUVIUS WHAT IS ON FIRE ALL THE TIME AN' STUFF COMES OUTA THE MOUNTAINS RIGHT DOWN ONTO THE TOWNS AN' THE STUFF IS SO BLAMED HOT YOU CAN'T EVEN TOUCH IT
YES - IT'S A TERRIBLE THING THE WAY THE MOLTEN LAVA DESTROYS TOWNS YEAR AFTER YEAR
WELL?
WOULDN'TCHA THINK THEM EYETALIANS WOULD PUT THE FIRE OUT?

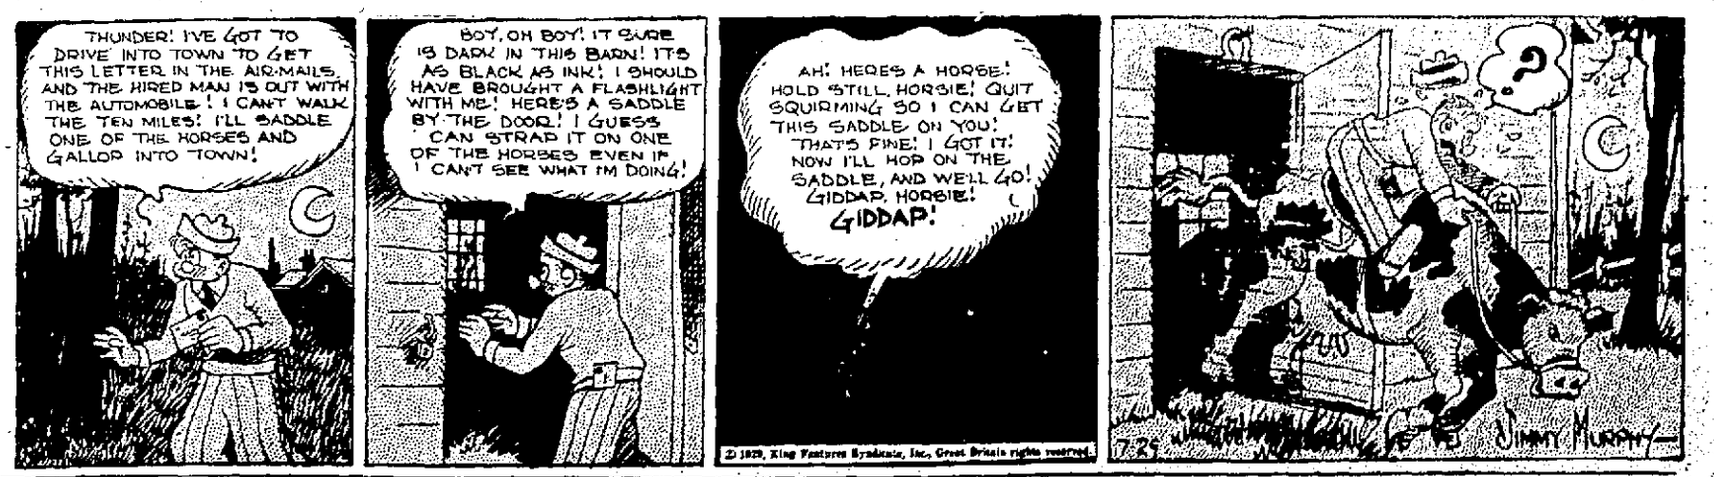
POLLY AND HER PALS — NOTHING TO MAKE LIGHT OF — BY CLIFF STERRETT

I ASK YOU, FOLKS, ARE WE GONNA QUIT THIS PALATIAL SUMMER PALACE, LIKE A LOTTA YALLER DAWGS, OR ARE WE GONNA STICK IT OUT, LIKE MEN?
I'M A GAME GUY SAM'L. BUT I DRAW THE LINE AT SPOOKS!
DONT BE SILLY MAGGIE! EVERYBUDDY BUT INFANTS AN' NIT-WITS, KNOWS THEY AINT NO SECH THING AS A SPOOK!
HEAVENLY DAYS!
HEY!!! WOT TH-? WHO DONE THAT?
MY STARS!
GOSH ALL FRIDAY!
CLIFF STERRETT 7-29

CRAZY KAT — BY HERRIMAN

YOU POOR KAT, YOU HAVE SUCH A SOFT HEART
WHO, ME?
COULD YOU LIVV IT, SNATZ? MY HEART IS SOFF - NOT'S YOURS?
MINE IS GOLD, SOLID GOLD
A SOFF HEART, A GOLD HEART, AND NOW I WUNDA WOT ORRISSA PUPPS HEART IS?
WELL, I'LL TELL YOU -
IT'S STONE
JAIL

TOOTS AND CASPER — CASPER'S NEW "STEED" — BY JIMMY MURPHY



THUNDER! I'VE GOT TO DRIVE INTO TOWN TO GET THIS LETTER IN THE AIR-MAILS, AND THE HIRED MAN IS OUT WITH THE AUTOMOBILE! I CAN'T WALK THE TEN MILES! I'LL SADDLE ONE OF THE HORSES AND GALLOP INTO TOWN!
BOY, OH BOY! IT SURE IS DARK IN THIS BARN! IT'S AS BLACK AS INK! I SHOULD HAVE BROUGHT A FLASHLIGHT WITH ME! HERE'S A SADDLE BY THE DOOR! I GUESS I CAN STRAP IT ON ONE OF THE HORSES EVEN IF I CAN'T SEE WHAT I'M DOING!
AH! HERE'S A HORSE! HOLD STILL, HORSIE! QUIT SQUIRMING SO I CAN GET THIS SADDLE ON YOU! THAT'S FINE! I GOT IT! NOW I'LL HOP ON THE SADDLE, AND WE'LL GO! GIDDAP, HORSIE! GIDDAP!
JIMMY MURPHY 7-29

JERRY ON THE JOB — THESE THINGS TAKE TIME — BY HOBAN

COMPLICATIONS HAVE SET IN!
LATE LAST NIGHT UNCLE TOM DROVE THE CAR RIGHT INTO THE LINE OF MARCH OF THE MIDNIGHT CHOOCHOO SO IT COULD BE MACERATED AND THEREBY GIVE THE OWNERS A CHANCE TO SUE THE R.R. FOR $5,000 DAMAGES.
AND WHAT HAPPENED? THE RATTLER NUDGED THE TAXICAB O.K. BUT INSTEAD OF THE CAR BEING SMASHED ALL AROUND AND ABOUT - THE LOCOMOTIVE RUINED ITSELF!
HEY, BLOTTS! GET A LOAD OF THIS! THE TRAIN SOCKED THE CAB ALL RIGHT - BUT THE CABS AS GOOD AS NEW -
AND THE CHOOCHOO IS ALL FOLDED UP LIKE A ROAD MAP! WHAT THE HECK ARE WE GOING TO DO NOW?
AIN'T MUCH WE CAN DO -
-EXCEPT WAIT FOR THE NEXT TRAIN.

Florida Tree Snails in Harvard Museum

CAMBRIDGE — Florida Tree Snails, of brilliant and vari-colored hues, many species of which have become almost extinct because of the inroads of civilization upon the once inaccessable Everglades of Florida, have been collected and made a permanent exhibit at the Musuem of Comparative Zoology at Harvard University.

The collection of the tree snails, marking one of the biggest and most valuable in existence, were obtained through the generosity of Joseph A. Farnum, a naturalist, who spent several years collecting the animals in Florida Everglades.

TROUBLE KEEPS ON TRAIL OF STEVENS

Mark St. Man Who Recently Lost $200 Suffers Broken Leg In Accident

Trouble seems to camp on the trail of Joe Stevens 359 East Mark st, who last night suffered a broken leg just above the ankle when the spring wagon in which he was riding was jolted by a passing automobile about 7:30 o'clock, three and one-half miles west of the city on the Harding highway. Stevens and several companions were enroute to Linn where they expected to work.

Stevens, who was riding with the driver, Ben Lingram, was resting his foot between the boards on the front end of the wagon and when the wagon was hit the jolt jerked his body backwards. Both bones in his leg were broken. He was removed to City hospital in the W. C. Boyd invalid car.

Only a short time ago Stevens lost more than $200 which he was carrying.

AUTOS CRASH

Occupants Escape Serious Injury in Two Collisions

Occupants of automobiles driven by Mrs. Frank Miller, of Fountain st., and R. Snyder, north of the city, escaped serious injury when the machines collided at the intersection of Garden City pk. and Fountain st. at noon Saturday. Sheriff John J. Francis investigated the accident.

An automobile driven by Donnie Barr, of Marion, was turned over shortly after noon Sunday when it was struck by another machine east of Agosta. The second car was occupied by members of a colored baseball team, according to Sheriff Francis. No one was injured.

Today's Review of Grain Market

CHICAGO, July 29—Another week of extremely adverse weather conditions in the North American Spring wheat belt sent crop conditions lower and moved the bull wheat market rapidly upward from the break late the previous week. The market was highly erratic, with bulging pressure and profit taking appearing on all advances, but consequent reactions uncovered excellent buying support and the December option advanced to a new high on the crop. Gains at the close were around 10c for the period.

Corn, while influenced moderately by the reactions in wheat, maintained an independently firm tone as interest broadcast, with commission house buying and local short covering active in advancing values. Lack of moisture with danger of crop firing in sections was the chief buying incentive.

Oats Follow Corn

Oats advanced with corn, despite considerable selling. The trend of its prices was based on the action in wheat, with reports of damage the crop in the Northwest an added influence.

At the close Saturday, wheat prices registered net advances for the week of 2¾@10½. Corn finished 5¼@9¾c higher, oats 3@4¾c up and rye 6¾c higher Winnipeg wheat futures prices advanced 13½@10¾c during the week.

Estimates of the probable yield in Canada and the domestic Northwest continued to be reduced as hot dry days succeeded each other with no relief, other than local showers, in sight. It is generally conceded now that the crop reductions so far announced will reduce total supplies for this season to below a year ago despite the heavy carry-over. In addition to this, the prevailing bad conditions in the southern hemisphere strongly suggest further reductions in the world crop.

Argentina is suffering from lack of moisture which is hindering the start of their crop, already estimated at 15 per cent less than a year ago because of smaller acreage. Rain is urgently needed in this country within the next two weeks, advices said Saturday. Meanwhile, the crop in eastern Australia is also suffering and Broomhill expressed fears that another of the periodical droughts might be sustained in this section.

Hence the bread bull market which has increased the open interest in wheat to over 200,000,000 bu

The cash situation in wheat is unusual. With a heavy carry-over in this country, Canada and Argentina, current receipts in the Southwest districts, where harvesting of the winter crop is practically completed, are exerting a strain on marketing facilities. Embargoes were officially declared in effect at the Gulf ports, which sent offerings of wheat from southwest markets to Chicago. However, it is believed clearances will soon be larger, opening the ports again.

Prevailing discounts for cash wheat are unusually attractive to elevators and the bread wheat trade has enabled the placing of hedges rapidly. While the grain must be stored for a time, no one in the trade expresses much doubt that in view of the northwest crop conditions there will be a demand for the grain before the season is over, and as a consequence there is no hesitation in holding it, which eases the pressure the cash situation might exert on the futures.

Sheriff's Pistol Is Diamond Studded

MUSKOGEE, Okla.—The most expensive revolver in the middle west and perhaps in the entire country. That is the claim made by J. H. Burnett of El Reno, Okla., secretary of the Oklahoma's sheriff's and Peace Officers' Association, who owns the valuabel .44 calibre, double-lock revolver.

The pistol was given to him by an Oklahoma sheriff and a patrolman working under Burnett. The gun is studded with 57 rubies, and 14 diamond chips. The barrel and carriage are nickel-plated while the magazine, trigger and lock are of gold. Nine one dollar gold pieces are inlaid in the pearl handle.

On one side of the handle of the weapon is a photograph of Burnett while on the other side, the finger prints and lodge emblems of Burnnett may be seen. The rubies, diamonds and gold pieces were gifts from admirers of Burnett.

Burnett first became an officer at the age of 19.

Office Plane Made by St. Louis Firm

ST. LOUIS—A specially equipped flying office plane has been placed in regular production by the Mahoney-Ryan Aircraft Corporation, officials of the company announced recently.

The new plane is equipped with dictaphone, office desk, filing equipment, desk and reading lights, thermos bottles, electric cigar lighters, shelves for books and other accessories.
